INTRODUCTION

This chapter will start with the background of study, which provided an overview North Borneo University College (NBUC). Some aspects on brand perception specifically towards this private university also had been highlighted. The researcher had observed that the people commonly would do a comparison on several universities; specifically based on individuals' perception. Therefore, researcher believed that brand perception had become an important aspect where the marketers can use as their mechanism in enhancing their services on educational field. The problem statement addresses the various potential issues which been identified further in the study. This is then followed by the statement of research questions, research objectives, scope of study and the significant of study.

1.1 Background of Study

Every organization has long used a certain perception to define their brand as a way to create a point of differentiation between their products and/or services from their competitors' products and/or services (Ali et al., 2016). The way to create an image that defines the brand itself which mainly based on a certain perception also might slightly differ among organization; whereby in this study context, the university itself as an organization. Therefore, the main idea of this study is to analyse the brand aspect which specifically about brand perception on North Borneo University College as one of the private university that located in Kota Kinabalu, Sabah.
