Abstract

ReCentSYS is an all-in-one system and easy-to-use library management system which is ideal for small and mid-size libraries ranging from school to public institutions and companies. It consists of web-based front/back-end portal and a mobile app for accessing the library catalogue on the go. The portal is very user friendly for library starters. It has been developed from the ground up by Tuanku Bainun Library, UPSI using open source technology and compliance to the MARC 21 standard. Library system is often very hard to use and maintained by non library personnels. Challenged by the current situation, Tuanku Bainun Library with dedicated librarians and IT personnel strive to develop a new all-in-one system for small-to-mid size library to begin their journey for providing their user with easy to use system to access the library materials.

Keyword: Integrated library management system, library system, easy to use library system, web based library system

Potential commercialization: ReCentSYS has two sales mode.

- Community License (free to use up to 100,000 title with each title can only have 10 copies with RePAC mobile app)
- Enterprise Commercial License (Unlimited usage and support for full text indexing for digital media, RePAC and OffPAC mobile app support)

Market : Small to mid-size libraries, documentation centres.

Lifespan : Regularly updated to latest version and follows MARC 21 standard.
