ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Bismillahirrahmanirrahim,

Alhamdulillah, in the name of Allah s.w.t, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful. All thanks and praises are due to Allah s.w.t for making thing possible, for giving me the strength, patience and healthy physical also inspiration to complete this project paper accordingly.

This thesis represent not only my work at the keyboard, it is a milestone in 5 month of work at Mahkota Medical Centre (MMC) within the finance department. My experience at MMC has been nothing short but amazing with given unique opportunities within the company.

First and foremost, I would like to express my deepest appreciation and gratitude to my advisor, Puan Rohaiza binti Kamis, Finance lecturer of Universiti Teknologi Mara (UiTM) for her guidance, suggestion and encouragement. Not only by providing a research assistantship over almost 5 months but also academically and emotionally through the rough road to finish this thesis. Thank you for the time spent for the comments and time to read my proposal during the most difficult times to give opinion to a better outcome for this report.

It's a pleasure to acknowledge and thank my supervisor Miss Loh Wern Huay and all department staffs of MMC for their cooperation and guidance during my 5 month internship. Being a trainee in MMC is absolutely beneficial to me as I gained experience in handling cheque, accounts and dealing with people of different rank and Last but not least, my greatest appreciation to everyone involved in this project directly and indirectly especially to the respondents whom answered my questionnaire.

ABSTRACT

This study has the aim to investigate the factor that effects the selection of Islamic Banking among the non-Muslim in the Mahkota Medical Centre, a private hospital in Malacca. A non-probability sampling method was used whereby a questionnaire was administered to 100 respondents and statistically analyzed to determine the factors to the selection of Islamic Banking system among the non-Muslim in Mahkota Medical Centre. From the analysis, it can confirm the significant positive relationship of people's selection, awareness, understanding and perceptions towards the Islamic Banking system. In conclusion, the people in the Mahkota Medical Centre especially non-Muslim can derive a better understanding of the activities that are undertaken by Islamic banking system and how the way are these activities are being deal with.
