Community Service Webinar: Prevention and Countermeasures of COVID-19 in Pesantren Indonesia and Malaysia

By: FSG Corporate Communications Unit, Faculty of Applied Sciences, UiTM Shah Alam

Dr Nurul Nadiyah Mohd Firdaus Hum, a senior lecturer at Environmental Technology Programme, Faculty of Applied Sciences (FSG), UiTM Shah Alam was invited as a speaker in Community Service Webinar: Prevention and Countermeasures of COVID-19 in Pesantren, Indonesia and Malaysia. Dr Nurul Nadiyah delivered her speech entitled 'Clean Water and Waste Management in Pesantren During Pandemic'. This event was organised by Department of Environmental Health, Faculty of Public Health, Universitas Airlangga on 26 September 2021, from 9.00 to 11.00 am (Indonesian time), 10.00 to 12.00 pm (Malaysian time). The event has contributed input related to the prevention and control of COVID-19 and other infectious diseases that are still often found in religious schools in Indonesia besides on the basic sanitation issues like water purification and solid waste management that can be applied in minimizing the effect of COVID-19 in those schools. The event was also attended by Dr Izzuki Muhashonah, the Chairman of Al Amin Tunggal Paciran Lamongan Foundation, Secretary II of PDS PatKLI in Central Board and Head of Medical Laboratory Installation of Waluyo Jati Hospital, besides the representatives of the nearby religious schools.
