EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

All undergraduate students at the Faculty of Business and Management, all of them majoring in International Business, must do an internship as part of their studies. This on-the-job training gives students hands-on experience in real business settings, which helps them use what they've learnt in university, improve their professional abilities, and take on responsibilities at work.

This report is about how I successfully finished my internship at IFS Capital Malaysia Sdn. Bhd. from March 3 to August 15, 2025. The company is a subsidiary of IFS Capital Limited, which is listed on the Singapore Stock Exchange. It offers financial services such factoring, supply chain financing, leasing, term loans, and bank guarantees. IFS Capital Malaysia Sdn. Bhd. mostly assists small and medium-sized businesses (SMEs) in Malaysia and the surrounding area.

During my internship, I learnt how to do things like finance a business, serve clients, and observe the company from the inside out. The company's changing atmosphere and guidance made it a great place to learn new skills and progress as a professional.

A SWOT analysis of IFS Capital Malaysia, which looks at its strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats, is a main point of this study. The report points out the company's strong product lines and good reputation in the market, as well as problems and areas where it may strengthen its strategy. There is a discussion and suggestions for each element that give information about the company's current state and future possibilities.

This work experience has been a great way to learn, combining what I've learnt at university with what I do in the real world. The report is meant to show both the professional development that has happened and a strategic comprehend of the business environment at IFS Capital Malaysia.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.

Alhamdulillah, all thanks is due to Allah the Almighty for giving me the strength and determination to finish this report on Industrial Training for my internship at IFS Capital Malaysia Sdn. Bhd. I had a few obstacles along the way, but I'm thankful that I was able to get through them thanks to patience and drive.

I want to thank my advisor, Madam Nor Khairunnisa Binti Mat Yunus, from the bottom of my heart for always being there for me and giving me advice along the way. Her helpful comments, support, and clear directions were a huge help in getting this report done on time.

I also want to thank the members of my family for always being there for me, praying for me, and encouraging me. Their support and presence have always given me strength.

I also want to thank every person who helped with this story, whether directly or indirectly. Your ideas, recommendations, and helpful suggestions have made my work much better.

Lastly, I hope that all the work that went into this endeavour will be useful to everyone.

Thank you.
