Virtual Postgraduate Open Week (VOW)

Virtual Postgraduate Open Week (VOW) is one of the alternative methods introduced by IPSis UiTM to meet our potential candidate through an online base platform. VOW becomes the main interaction platform between the IPSis, faculty representative, and potential candidate during the pandemic season. The 1st series of VOW for the year 2021 has been conducted from 25th – 29th January 2021 from 10.00 am until 6.00 pm.

A total of 20 live webinar series have been conducted successfully during the VOW. This manages to attract a total of 432 potential candidates who participated using various online base platforms (Google meet, Webex meet, Facebook, and Microsoft Team) prepared by IPSis and faculty representative. Mainly, it is also noted the participant that participated during the VOW is from the various background which is a mixture of national and international candidates.

Active interaction between the faculty representative and candidates has been carryout during the VOW. Generally, an energetic live discussion introduced a new Master's and Ph.D. program from diverse faculty in UiTM. This discussion has attracted huge attention particularly the candidate notices the career opportunities as soon as completing the Master or Ph.D. program offered by UiTM. Besides, the faculty representative also takes a good prospect to introduce Master and Ph.D. programs from each faculty that always get the highest demand amount the employee in the national and international market.

Overall, it can be concluded that the Virtual Postgraduate Open Week (VOW) IPSis-UiTM is a big fruitful program that has been conducted using an online platform. This is complete strong teamwork from different levels of management at IPSis and faculty members in UiTM. Also, this program attracted an enormous number of new candidates that not only from UiTM but also from other government and non-government institutes outside the UiTM. Insha'Allah the next VOW is schedule around coming June 2021. SEE YOU!!!
