

e-Buletin JSKM

EDISI
APRIL 2026

INFORMASI • INSPIRASI • IMPIAN

Menyemai Harapan, MENYANTUNI PEJUANG KECIL

Menghubungkan ilmu, empati dan tanggungjawab sosial dalam menyantuni kanak-kanak pesakit kanser.

“ Saya percaya bahawa ilmu akan lebih bermakna apabila ia mampu menyentuh kehidupan dan membawa harapan kepada mereka yang memerlukan. ”

- Siti Asmah Mohamed -

MAJLIS
APRESIASI JSKM
2026

Laporan

RAFAH YANG
DIRATAH TIDAK
PERNAH PUNAH

Puisi

MENELUSURI
PASIR DAN
KABUS BROMO

Perkongsian

eISSN 2637-0077

9 772637 007004

GEMINI-GEMS STORYBOOK:
TINY GARDEN HEROES AND THE GOLDEN GIFT

Tiny Garden Heroes and the Golden Gift

By DR. NOR HANIM ABD RAHMAN

In a garden filled with bright, waving flowers, a tiny worker named Zuzu is waking up. She is a honeybee, covered in soft, fuzzy yellow and black stripes. She isn't here to scare anyone; she has a very big job to do because she is following a special plan for the whole world!

Zuzu has a best friend named Barnaby. He is also a honeybee, and he is very fast! He loves to zoom through the air, feeling the wind on his fuzzy face. When you hear a "buzz," that is just the sound of Barnaby's wings working hard to carry him to the next flower.

Bees like Zuzu and Barnaby talk to each other in a very special way. They don't use words; they use a "waggle dance!" By wiggling their tummies and spinning in circles, they tell their friends exactly where the best flowers are hiding.

The Great Creator gave the bees a special map in their hearts to help them find their way. The AlQuran says, "And your Lord inspired the bee: Build your homes in the mountains, and the trees, and in the hives that people build for you." Zuzu follows this path every day.

As Barnaby visits a bright red tulip, something magical happens. Tiny yellow grains called pollen stick to his fuzzy legs and tummy. It looks like he has been playing in golden fairy dust! He carries this dust from one flower to the next to help the world stay green.

Back at the hive, Zuzu and Barnaby help turn the nectar they gathered into something wonderful. The AlQuran tells us, "There comes forth from their bellies a drink of many colors, in which there is healing for people." This sweet, golden honey is a gift for everyone!

DR. SUKRI HANIM AND BAHMAN

In a nearby house, a little boy named Leo is sitting with his mother, Noor. They are having tea and toast. Noor points to the honey jar and explains that the bees are a sign of how much the Earth is cared for. Leo listens, his eyes wide with wonder at the tiny heroes.

7

DR. SUKRI HANIM AND BAHMAN

Leo used to feel a little bit nervous when he heard a bee. He would stay very still and worry that they might be grumpy. But today, as Barnaby flies past his window toward a patch of clover, Leo remembers what Noor told him about the healing gift the bees make.

8

DE NOR HANIM ABD KARIMAN

As the sun begins to set, Zuzu and Barnaby fly back to their cozy hive. They are tired but happy because they followed their special path today. So, the next time you see a bee, remember: they are tiny, blessed heroes in fuzzy yellow coats!

10

اَبُو بَكْرٍ مَرْكُومٌ
UNIVERSITI
TEKNOLOGI
MARA

Cawangan Pulau Pinang
Kampus Permatang Pauh

Unit Penerbitan e-Buletin
Jabatan Sains Komputer dan Matematik
UiTM Cawangan Pulau Pinang
13500 Permatang Pauh
Pulau Pinang

eISSN 2637-0077

9 772637007004