Acknowledgement

First and foremost, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Allah S.W.T for His guidance, strength, and blessings that allowed my internship journey to run smoothly. His mercy has been my greatest support throughout this meaningful experience.

My sincere appreciation goes to Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Bandaraya Melaka for granting me the opportunity to complete this internship as part of my academic requirements. The knowledge and preparation provided by the university have greatly assisted me in adapting to the professional environment. I am truly grateful for the chance to apply my classroom learning in a real workplace, which has strengthened my understanding of the industry and the importance of practical experience.

I would also like to extend my heartfelt thanks to Schlumberger (SLB) for providing an enriching and valuable internship placement. My deepest gratitude goes to my manager, Mr. Hasan Riad AL-Kahaf, for his continuous guidance, patience, and encouragement. His mentorship has significantly enhanced my understanding of shared services and the oil and gas sector, and his support has made my learning journey both meaningful and motivating. My appreciation also goes to my senior interns, Aqilah and Jia Shou, for their constant assistance, guidance, and encouragement. I am also thankful to all fellow interns for creating a positive and supportive working environment.

I am truly grateful to my university advisor, Miss Nurhaslinda, for her timely guidance and helpful feedback in completing my report and presentation.

Lastly, I dedicate my deepest appreciation to my beloved parents for their unwavering love, prayers, and motivation, as well as to everyone who supported me throughout this journey.

Executive Summary

My internship with SLB was a profound learning experience that expanded my understanding of company operations while also improving my analytical, technical, and professional skills. As a member of the Governance, Risk, and Control (GRC) Department under the Continuous Control Monitoring (CCM) division, I was involved in activities that supported SLB's global governance framework and financial assurance duties. During my six-month placement, I received guidance and oversight from Mr. Hasan on tasks including revenue recognition back-testing, data validation, compliance reporting, and internal control monitoring. These responsibilities required precision, critical thinking, and adherence to established procedures, which helped me understand the importance of accuracy and accountability in financial reporting.

This internship also allowed me to get a knowledge of how international organizations maintain governance integrity through systematic procedures, cross-functional collaboration, and risk-management measures. I increased my communication skills, problem-solving abilities, and confidence in managing real-world corporate obligations by using my academic knowledge in a real-world business situation. Learning about SLB's compliance culture and global standards provided me with valuable insights into how governance frameworks work in high-performance, complex organizations.

This research does a comprehensive SWOT analysis of SLB, examining its strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats from both departmental and organizational perspectives. It also covers the primary responsibilities, initiatives, and skills I acquired throughout my internship.
