ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research paper has been successfully done by the assistance of several people. Therefore, I would like to take this opportunity to show my gratitude to those people who have provided their help and advice through the process of completing my final year project.

First and foremost, all praise is to Allah, the Almighty, and the Benevolent for his blessings and guidance for giving me the inspiration to embark on this report. Second, I like to express deepest appreciation to Madam Norsaliza Binti Abu Bakar, as my advisor for this final year project paper, who has sacrificed her valuable time in assisting and guiding to complete this report. This research paper would not be completed without her existence. Besides that, many people especially my classmates have made valuable comment and suggestion on this research which gave me an inspiration to make an improvement on it.

Last but not least, I would like to thank all of my family members, relatives and friends who have support my back in any respect during the completion of the paper.

ABSTRACT

This research aims to investigate the determinants of dividend policy on blue-chip stock of companies listed on Bursa Malaysia over for five years from 2011 to 2015. Twenty six companies had been selected that listed as blue-chip stock and total observation is 130. This study employs multiple regression analysis to measure relationship variable and overall impact on dividend policy and to test the operational hypotheses.

A secondary data was used as the main instrument in gathering data. The study also investigates the relationship between dividend policy with earning per share, price earning, long term debt and debt ratio. This model was tested using Eviews software application and test use related with the data.

The finding of this research shows that there has related and interrelated among dividend policy with earning per share, price earning, long term debt and debt ratio.
