Abstract

Purpose – The purpose of this study is to identify the factors customer satisfaction towards global products.

Design/Methodology/Approach – A total 132 respondents were participated in answering questionnaires.

Findings – The findings of the study indicate that there is a significant influence between interaction and customer satisfaction. The other variable also has a relationship with customer satisfaction but it will not give as much influence as interaction.

Practical Implications – The findings of the paper may have serious implications for the customer satisfaction in Telekom Malaysia Berhad.

Originality/Value – The papers draw attention to a rather neglected issue between customer satisfaction and service quality in Telekom Malaysia Berhad.

Keywords – Customer Satisfaction, Service Quality and Global products.

Paper type – Research Paper
