ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the name of God The Most Merciful, Most Compassionate, Praise be to God the Lord of the world; peace be upon our master Muhammad, the Messenger of God and all his households and companions.

Alhamdulillah...

First of all we would like to give the highest of appreciation and thankfulness to Allah S.W.T for giving us the opportunities, good health and strength to do this research.

Millions of appreciation to our supportive, tolerance, patience, and dedicated Honours Project Paper Supervisor, Puan Azhani Bt Arshad for giving us the guidance to do and complete the research. Guidance given do benefits us a lot.

Other lecturers from various academic backgrounds namely Puan Norha Abu Hanifah, Puan Siti Hafsyah and others were also helpful in providing us guidance in relation to the project paper. Thank you very much.

In addition, we would like to thank all of our classmates and friends in the Faculty of Law whom have been so supportive and helpful to us during the period of completing this research. Same goes with people either directly or indirectly involved in this process. The invaluable information and cooperation given were phenomenal.

Last but not least is to our family that always support us especially in terms of love and affection as well as financial. They always pray for our success in life.

Thanks.

ABSTRACT

Human activities have led the world into a serious problem which is global warming and clearly the increasing rate of environmental pollution in various forms does contribute as a factor to this problem. Many people are liable for their action but the most active polluter are developers involved in different kind of industry. One of them is the pig rearing industry. Reported cases of lacking efficiency in treating pig waste and water treatment had made the water supply of the neighbour and our nation's river as the victim. History of the nation in 1999 showed that Malaysia has experienced a major disease outbreak known as Japanese Encephalitis and undoubtedly the course of action would be contaminating water due to poor treatment of the waste. Pollution caused by this people still in exist though the government had set up guidelines and laws regulating this matter. Could it be the enforcement factor that lacking in the public authority or the laws themselves are weak and insufficient. Such issues must be determined and re-construct in order for the government to achieve better environmental quality for the nation.
