ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Bismillahirrahmanirrahim.

We have taken efforts and gone through challenges in completing of this project. However, it would not be possible without the external help, support and encouragement of others. We hereby would like to show our deepest gratitude to our supervisor, Prof. Madya Ramlah bt Mohd Noh for her legal information, supervision, patience, guidance and support in completing this project paper.

We also would like to extend our appreciation towards Dato' A. Samad Said, Puan Fauziah Ashari, Puan Asiah bin Daud and En. Hafizi Ahmad from Dewan Bahasa dan Pustaka for the time spent in sharing their experience during the interview session with us. Without their contributions, our project paper would not have been completed.

A special thank goes to our family members and friends for their assistance both financially and morally.

Last but not least, we are very grateful for the constant commitment received by each and every member of the group, without which, the project paper might not be possible.

ABSTRACT

This project paper discusses the legal position of authors in Malaysia specifically in terms of their economic rights. The project paper consists of the outlines of our research proposal which comprises of the layout in conducting and completing the research. It also includes several laws applicable in Malaysia as well as other countries which give legal protections to authors. Further, this project paper discusses the landmark cases which have significance to the application of copyright law in Malaysia. In addition, the project paper includes the responses and comments from authors and publishers generated by interviews. Last but not least, this project paper contains recommendations and solutions in order to prevent future dispute between authors and publishers.
