Dean of Akademi Pengajian Bahasa

In the name of Allah the Most Merciful and Most Gracious.

Assalamualaikum Warahmatullahi Wabarakatuh dan Salam Sejahtera.

It gives me an immense pleasure to welcome all speakers, presenters and participants to the International Conference of Research on Language Education 2021 (i-RoLE 2021) organised by the Academy of Language Studies (APB), UiTM Melaka. While circumstances prevent a face-to-face event, we are proud to be hosting our first online conference given the new challenges of the Covid-19 pandemic that has forced us to pivot to a completely virtual one.

The theme for the two-day conference - Engaging in Change: Empowering Linguistics, Literature and Language' has been remotely set up to provide not only professionals but also novice researchers from all over the world with the opportunity to share their scholarly experiences and exchange knowledge in the different fields of languages, linguistic and literature in this increasingly complex terrain. Looking at the conference schedule, and the many wonderful and accomplished guest speakers and presenters, I am confident this conference will be a remarkable avenue of learning, networking and inspiration.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the iRoLE 2021 organising committee and those who are involved directly and indirectly in making this event a success. I hope this remarkable event will continue in the future.

I also would like to express my deepest thanks to the speakers and presenters who did their best to submit their presentation videos in due time to ease out the technicalities during the conference. I wish you all the best in your presentations and I hope that you will enjoy and benefit tremendously from the conference. We hope that your experience in this virtual conference will be a rewarding one that sparks new collaborations and areas of inquiry.

I wish all of you an exciting virtual experience and anticipate seeing all of you again at our future events.

Topic: Humanizing Language Teaching and Learning: The NLP Approach

Abstract

Language teaching and learning worldwide is embracing rapid change due to globalization, competition, market orientation and technology. Language teaching and learning in the modern world puts emphasis on maximizing learners' potential through immersive learning. Along with this are greater calls to humanize language teaching and learning to ensure that these processes are contextualized, dynamic and is geared towards a personalized experience for students, taking into account students' personalities and learning styles. Several researchers have argued for the use of the Neuro-linguistic programming (NLP) to humanize teaching and learning. NLP is a tool based on the way the brain works and an understanding of the mental and cognitive processes behind human behavior. Despite having sceptics, particularly in terms of its applicability and 'quasi science' nature, recent research has shown that through recognizing patterns and communication model, NLP can contribute towards the betterment of the teaching and learning process. This paper presents an overview of the findings in current research focusing on NLP in teaching and learning and discusses the implications of these findings for English language learning. The paper concludes by suggesting several NLP techniques that are useful for language teachers.
