ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This study would not have been materialized without the invaluable advice, patience, encouragement and also assistance of many. To each and everyone, I extend my sincere gratitude.

Firstly, I am grateful to ALLAH the Al-Mighty for giving me strength to complete this study.

My heartiest gratitude and sincere appreciation to my Research Methodology Supervisor, Professor Dr. Abu Bakar bin Haji Ibrahim, for his invaluable advice, constructive suggestions and guidance at the very early stage of this study. Without his guidance, this would not have come into reality.

My heartfelt appreciation and thanks to my advisor, Tuan Haji Abdullah bin Mohamed for his constant interest and painstaking care he has shown in the arrangement and organization of this study. His sincere support especially during the most trying time for me towards the end of this study is very much appreciated. I am really indebted to him especially for the time he has taken to review my entire work.

I am also truly indebted to Terengganu Department of Education and MARA University of Technology for giving me an opportunity to pursue my Bachelor's Degree.

ABSTRACT

The aim of this study was to determine the effectiveness of using newspapers as a teaching technique in enhancing the language learning of year five students. It tried to explain by using newspapers can enhance students' interests in their reading habits and later would lead to better skills in the production of the language learning.

The findings revealed that newspapers could be an effective tool to be manipulated in a lesson especially by adapting the various sections available in the newspapers into interesting and joyful activities to be carried out in the classroom. Additionally, the current information stated in daily newspapers can also promote students' proficiency in the English language.
