Entrepreneurship can be defined as the activity of setting up a business, and taking on financial risks in the hope of making profit. In early 1900s, Joseph Schumpeter termed 'entrepreneur' as an innovator who introduced new innovation to replace old products and old ways of doing things. He described the process as 'creative destruction' to signify creativity of new products or services to replace or destruct old ones.

Entrepreneurship is the act of creating a business or businesses while building and scaling it to generate a profit. However, as a basic entrepreneurship definition, it's a bit limiting. The more modern entrepreneurship definition is also about transforming the world by solving big problems. Like initiating social change, creating an innovative product or presenting a new life-changing solution.
