ABSTRACT

This research paper explored into students' of Faculty of Computer and Mathematical Sciences in UiTM Seremban on the perception towards sexuality education. The research questions raised were to guide this study on distinguishing the perception of students towards sexuality education and the difference of perception between male and female students towards the topic. This study adopted three methods of analysis which are descriptive analysis, comparing two independent means and multiple linear regression. The population is 1696 students from Faculty of Computer and Mathematical Sciences in UiTM Seremban where 314 number of samples were extracted using simple random sampling technique. The instrument for this study was a questionnaire distributed to the selected respondents using online survey form. Based on the data obtained and analysed, the study indicated a positive perception among students of UiTM Seremban towards sexuality education. There was also no significant difference between gender on the perception towards sexuality education. Lastly, the factors that influence the perception towards sexuality education is family background and sexual involvement while, social involvement does not significant on the perception towards sexuality education. Thus, sexuality education is a topic that should be implemented among the society to increase the awareness that a proper sexuality education can prevent social issues arise among the community.

This research paper was prepared in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Degree of Bachelor of Science (Hons.) Statistics, Faculty of Computer and Mathematical Sciences.

Behind this successful research paper, we would like to thank everyone who had been supporting us while completing the study. First of all, we would like to express our very great appreciation to our supervisor, Madam Nur Izzah binti Jamil, for her unlimited guidance and advice throughout the entire period that motivated us in completing this research paper. She always evinced keen interest in our work while consistently correcting our mistakes upon completing the research paper. Also, special thanks to our Final Year Project (MSP660) lecturer, Madam Nurul Nisa' binti Khairol Azmi who had been guiding us immensely and providing sufficient knowledge on the steps required in completing the research paper. Nevertheless, both of their constructive advice and constant motivation have been responsible for the successful completion of this research proposal.

We extend our gratitude to Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) for giving us the opportunity to carry out this research on determining the perception of students towards sexuality education in UiTM Seremban. This research paper had broaden our knowledge and perspective towards sexuality education that is seen as an important topic in Malaysia. Furthermore, we are extremely thankful to all the selected students in UiTM Seremban for their enthusiastic support in responding honestly towards our online questionnaires. Without their precious responses, we would not be able to obtain relevant data in answering our research's objectives.

Finally, we would also like to express our gratitude to our parents and family members, who had always been supporting us morally as well as economically since the first day this study had been carried out.
