Han, Byung-Chul. (2019). What is power? Polity Press.

Power is a pervasive phenomenon yet there is little consensus on what it is and how it should be understood. In this book the cultural theorist Byung-Chul Han develops a fresh and original perspective on the nature of power, shedding new light on this key feature of social and political life. Power is commonly defined as a causal relation: an individual's power is the cause that produces a change of behaviour in someone else against the latter's will. Han rejects this view, arguing that power is better understood as a mediation between ego and alter which creates a complex array of reciprocal interdependencies. Power can also be exercised not only against the other but also within and through the other, and this involves a much higher degree of mediation. This perspective enables us to see that power and freedom are not opposed to one another but are manifestations of the same power, differing only in the degree of mediation. This highly original account of power will be of great interest to students and scholars of philosophy and of social, political and cultural theory, as well as to anyone seeking to understand the many ways in which power shapes our lives today

"To some extent this book isn't about how to think at all. Many of the Rules are about how to remove the barriers that get in the way of good, clear thinking. How to avoid self-interest, sidestep assumption, dodge the pitfalls. Once you do that, it's easy to think clearly. It would be implausibly convenient if there just happened to be exactly 100 Rules of Thinking. So these are the key 100, which are more than enough to change your thought patterns significantly for the better. Once you've mastered these Rules, you'll be much better placed to notice more of your own. Please feel free to share them on my Facebook page if you'd like to, and help other people join you as a fully-fledged Rules thinker"Provided by publisher

"Awak ni lone ranger ke?" "Puan, anak puan di rumah memang senyap ya?" "Dia tu pemalu orangnya..." Biasanya, kita akan lihat ada dua jenis orang di sekeliling kita. Satu ialah Ekstrovert - yang tampil yakin bercakap, lebih terkehadapan, dan dikenali ramai orang. Satu lagi ialah Introvert - yang kelihatan pasif, pendiam, dan jarang-jarang mengikuti sebarang aktiviti sosial. Adakah menjadi Ekstrovert lebih baik daripada Introvert? Benarkah Introvert perlu ubah diri menjadi lebih Ekstrovert agar lebih berjaya pada masa hadapan? Hakikatnya, setiap orang daripada kita mempunyai kelebihan tersendiri yang perlu dikenal pasti dan digilap potensinya. 'Pendiam?' menampilkan situasi biasa yang dilalui Introvert dalam masyarakat berserta kupasannya - agar personaliti ini lebih difahami dan dirai dengan kekuatan yang mereka ada.

"What does everyone in the modern world need to know? Renowned psychologist Jordan B. Peterson's answer to this most difficult of questions uniquely combines the hard-won truths of ancient tradition with the stunning revelations of cutting-edge scientific research. Humorous, surprising and informative, Dr. Peterson tells us why skateboarding boys and girls must be left alone, what terrible fate awaits those who criticize too easily, and why you should always pet a cat when you meet one on the street. What does the nervous system of the lowly lobster have to tell us about standing up straight (with our shoulders back) and about success in life? Why did ancient Egyptians worship the capacity to pay careful attention as the highest of gods? What dreadful paths do people tread when they become resentful, arrogant and vengeful? Dr. Peterson journeys broadly, discussing discipline, freedom, adventure and responsibility, distilling the world's wisdom into 12 practical and profound rules for life. 12 Rules for Life shatters the modern commonplaces of science, faith and human nature, while transforming and ennobling the mind and spirit of its readers.

Marsden, Lee. (2019). Religion and international security.

Religious violence is on the rise globally. Hardly a day passes without news of a vicious attack being carried out in the name of religion. Religion can, of course, bring security to many but its perversion leads to insecurity for all. Why is this? How and why do so many claim to act on God's behalf to inflict deliberate human suffering? In Religion and International Security Lee Marsden explores the return of religion as a major cause of insecurity in the contemporary world. He guides readers through the different theoretical perspectives surrounding the study of religion and security, arguing that the secular bias that marginalized the role played by religion in recent times must change to reflect the realities of the emerging post-secular international order. Packed with examples from around the world, the book offers a thoughtful and nuanced exploration of religion and security through key themes such as religiously motivated and inspired terrorism and warfare, the human security of women and gay people in religiously dominated communities, and the capacity for religious communities and leaders to heal conflict through peacebuilding. For those who would rather deny a role for religion when considering security, the genie is truly out of the bottle. This book seeks to understand this phenomenon and how to come to terms with it.

Al quran ialah mukjizat kekal sebagai bukti kebenaran bahawa Muhammad adalah Rasulullah SAW. Pengekalan mukjizat Al-Quran akan tetap dirasai oleh seluruh manusia hingga ke akhir zaman. Ini berbeza dengan mukjizat seketika yang hanya dirasai oleh umat sebelum kita, bahkan mukjizat yang dirasai oleh sahabat nabi, selain Al-Quran. Sebagai contoh, Nabi Nuh dengan mukjizat taufan dan air bah yang hanya berlaku untuk dirasai umatnya saja. Nabi Saleh A.S dengan mukjizat unta hanya berlaku untuk dirasai umatnya saja. Nabi Musa AS dengan mukjizat membelah air laut dan hanya berlaku untuk dirasai umatnya saja. Tetapi Nabi Muhammad SAW dengan mukjizat Al-Quran berlaku untuk dan dirasai seluruh umat manusia ketika dan sesudah baginda tidak kira masa dan tempat sampai hari kiamat dan ia akan kekal dipelihara seperti ditetapkan Al-Quran yang bermaksud, "Sesungguhnya kamilah yang menurunkan Al-Quran, dan kamilah yang memelihara dan menjaganya" (Syrah Al-Hijr:9), dengan jaminan Allah ini, terpeliharalah kitab suci Al-Quran daripada sebarang perubahan dan bersinarlah cahayanya ke seluruh alam

Najmuddin H. Abd Safa. (2019). Perbandingan manhaj al-akhfash dengan al-farra' dalam kitab ma'ani Al-Qur'an. Penerbit UKM

Perbandingan Manhaj Al-Akhfash dengan Al-Farra dalam Kitab Maani Al Quran merupakan satu perbincangan julung-julung kalinya berkaitan aliran aliran dalam bidang linguistik. Selama ini, pembaca hanya menerima pandangan dan pendapat berkaitan aliran-aliran dalam bidang linguistik daripada kaca mata dunia Barat. Buku yang mengupas, dua buah aliran linguistik tersohor dalam dunia Islam iaitu Aliran Basrah (Aliran Al-Akhfash) dan Aliran Kufah (Aliran Al-Farra) merupakan buku pertama dalam dunia penulisan berkaitan aliran-aliran dalam bidang linguistik, khasnya dalam linguistik Arab. Al-Quran Al-Karim diturunkan kepada Rasulullah (SAW) dalam bahasa Arab yang amat sempurna daripada aspek tatabahasanya atau pun kesusasteraan Arabnya. Justeru, ianya menjadi perhatian untuk dihafal dan difahami isi kandungannya. Sebahagian daripada mereka yang lain menumpukan perhatian ke atas pengkajian struktur bahasa Arab yang diguna pakai di dalam al-Quran. Usaha ini sebenarnya dilakukan oleh tokoh nahu besar dunia, iaitu Al-Akhfash dan Al-Farra. Kehebatan kedua-dua tokoh penahu Arab ini digarapkan dengan penuh ketelitian bukan sahaja latar belakang dan riwayat hidup mereka, malah peranan mereka dalam menganalisis bahasa al-Quran yang tertuang dalam dua kitab yang namanya sama iaitu kitab Maani Al-Quran, tetapi ditulis oleh dua tokoh yang berbeza, iaitu Al-Akhfash dan Al-Farra. Buku ini juga menganalisis persamaan dan perbezaan menurut pandangan Aliran Basrah dan Aliran Kufah ke atas kitab Maani Al-Quran. Sesungguhnya, buku ini membuka perspektif baru berkaitan pandangan dunia terhadap ilmu linguistik. Kita harus akui bahawa sebenarnya, ilmu linguistik itu muncul dan berkembang lebih awal di dunia Islam dan kemudian barulah muncul dan berkembang di dunia Barat.

Crowther, Daniel J, (2018). Reading the Bible in Islamic context qur'qnic conversations. Taylor & Francis Group.

In the current political and social climate, there is increasing demand for a deeper understanding of Muslims, the Quran and Islam, as well as a keen demand among Muslim scholars to explore ways of engaging with Christians theologically, culturally, and socially. This book explores the ways in which an awareness of Islam and the Quran can change the way in which the Bible is read. The contributors come from both Muslim and Christian backgrounds, bring various levels of commitment to the Quran and the Bible as Scripture, and often have significantly different perspectives. The first section of the book contains chapters that compare the report of an event in the Bible with a report of the same event in the Quran. The second section addresses Muslim readings of the Bible and biblical tradition and looks at how Muslims might regard the Bible - Can they recognise it as Scripture? If so, what does that mean, and how does it relate to the Quran as Scripture? Similarly, how might Christian readers regard the Quran? The final section explores different analogies for understanding the Bible in relation to the Quran. The book concludes with a reflection upon the particular challenges that await Muslim scholars who seek to respond to Jewish and Christian understandings of the Jewish and Christian scriptures.

Al-Attas, Syed Muhammad Al-Naq. (2019), Islam and secularism. Ta'dib International.

Written 40 years ago, this book is one of the most creative and original works of a Muslim thinker in the contemporary Muslim world. The author deals with fundamental problems faced by contemporary Muslims and provides real solutions, beginning with a discussion on 'The Contemporary Western Christian Background' in Chapter (I), followed by his analysis of the concepts (which he newly defines) of 'secular', 'secularization', and 'secularism' in Chapter (II). All this is then contrasted in Chapter (IV) of the book entitled 'Islam: The Concept of Religion and the Foundation of Ethics and Morality'. Based on all the preceding explanation, the author proceeds to analyze the Muslim 'dilemma' by declaring that it should be resolved primarily through what he calls the "dewesternization of knowledge" or, conversely, the "islamization of contemporary knowledge", an original concept conceived and elucidated by the author for the past five decades. Numerous original and profound ideas are contained in this book-arrived at chiefly through critical study of the Muslim tradition-such as the concepts of dīn, 'adl, ḥikmah, adab, ma'nā, and ta'dīb, and their significance in the development of an Islamic system of education.

Mohammad Hashim Kamali. (2018). Tajdid, Islah and civilisational renewal in Islam. International Institute of Advanced Islamic Studies (IAIS) Malaysia.

The history of Islamic thought is marked by a continuous tradition of internal revitalisation and reform embedded in the principles of islah, and tajdid. The ultimate purpose has been to bring existing realities and social change in line with the transcendent and universal standard of the Qur'an and Sunnah through a process of restoration and reform. The tradition of islah-tajdid has thus consistently challenged the Muslim status quo and prompted fresh interpretation of the Qur'an and Sunnah, understood and implemented through the methodologies of interpretation and ijtihad, as well as the rejection of unwarranted accretions to the original messages of Islam. The basic theme of the paper is that civilisational renewal is an integral part of Islamic thought. The paper looks into the meaning, definition and origins of tajdid and islah and their relationship with ijtihad, and how these have been manifested in the writings and contributions of the thought leaders of Islam throughout its history. It also develops tajdid-related formulas and guidelines that should lead the efforts of contemporary Muslims in forging the objectives of inter-civilisational harmony and their cooperation for the common good.

Gundogdu, Ahmet Suayb. (2019). A modern perspective of Islamic economics and finance. Emerald Publishing.

Traditionally, academic reflections on Islamic economics and finance have relied on a misleading understanding of Maqasid Al-Shari'ah. Much of the current research on the subject dogmatically adheres to the teachings of classical Islamic philosophers and does not appeal to practitioners of economics and finance who are looking for guidance on practical application rather than academic verbosity. This book aims to develop a blueprint for Islamic economics and finance by starting at the grass roots of trade and commerce. The majority of the world population, both in developed countries and emerging markets, have serious concerns over financial sustainability for themselves or their children. Islamic finance is meant to support an economy through genuine transactions and fulfil a duty to achieve a fair and prosperous society. Unfortunately, the industry has failed to fulfil this proposition and converged to conventional systems that do not link to the wider economic priorities of Islam. This book positions Islamic finance within the economic priorities of Islam while providing a cohesive understanding of Islamic economics and finance in a clear and practical manner. In doing so, the book provides the to-dos and not-to-dos of Islamic economics and finance, and instigates an Islamic monetary system in which people, not central banks, create money as long as they produce things demanded by other people.

Bargus-Pedreny, Pol. (2019). Mapping and politics in the digital age. Taylor & Francis Group.

Throughout history, maps have been a powerful tool in the constitutive imaginary of governments seeking to define or contest the limits of their political reach. Today, new digital technologies have become central to mapping as a way of formulating alternative political visions. Mapping can also help marginalised communities to construct speculative designs using participatory practices. Mapping and Politics in the Digital Age explores how the development of new digital technologies and mapping practices are transforming global politics, power, and cooperation. The book brings together authors from across political and social theory, geography, media studies and anthropology to explore mapping and politics across three sections. Contestations introduces the reader to contemporary developments within mapping and explores the politics of mapping as a form of knowledge and contestation. Governance analyses mapping as a set of institutional practices, providing key methodological frames for understanding global governance in the realms of urban politics, refugee control, health crises and humanitarian interventions and new techniques of biometric regulation and autonomic computation. Imaginaries provides examples of future-oriented analytical frameworks, highlighting the transformation of mapping in an age of digital technologies of control and regulation. In a world conceived as without borders and fixed relations, new forms of mapping stress the need to rethink assumptions of power and knowledge. This book provides a sophisticated and nuanced analysis of the role of mapping in contemporary global governance, and will be of interest to students and researchers working within politics, geography, sociology, media, and digital culture and technology.

Kutz, Matthew R. (2019). Leadership and management in athletic training an integrated approach. (2th ed). Jones & Bartlett Learning.

"This project is actually a revision of an existing text that was released by Lippincott, Williams, and Wilkins who published the first edition titled Leadership and Management in Athletic Training: An Integrated Approach. Currently, the book is used in several athletic training education programs around the United States. We have the signed release from LWW. The author pushed for the release, as AT is not a big area for LWW. Competitive Advantage: Each chapter begins with a section that delineates which competencies and knowledge areas the chapter covers AND is divided into parts - leadership stuff, management stuff, professional issues - all integrated. Hence the subtitle. In the NATA Competencies - the Core Content areas of Healthcare Administration (page 29) and Professional Development and Responsibility (page 31) are all leadership areas...and all of those associated competencies and clinical proficiencies will be addressed in the text. Also the Foundation Behaviors (NATA competencies Page 9) are also leadership concept heavy, E.g., teamwork, cultural diversity, etc... these are all leadership concepts, which are covered in this text. All programs have a management, leadership, organization, or administration course of some kind... this book will address all these concepts and show how they are integral to each other. "Leadership" is a theoretical concept (i.e., fluid) not a concrete set of behaviors--so a "leadership text" as proposed will covers several core competencies and several core content areas including professional behaviors (which the author would argue cannot be separated from leadership, and business/management concepts (budgeting, revenue, health insurance system, facility design/management.

Assessments for Sport and Athletic Performance effectively solves those problems in this practical, user-friendly guide to performance-based evaluation. A perfect resource for coaches and fitness professionals, Assessments for Sport and Athletic Performance is a streamlined guide through the process of identifying appropriate tests for individuals or teams, making use of common low-cost equipment to administer the tests, interpreting data, adjusting training programs based on the results, and continually monitoring training. For each assessment, this text walks you through a step-by-step process and includes a script of directions to give the athlete or client being tested to ensure the tests are performed correctly. You'll find a variety of protocols that do not require complicated equipment and can be conveniently conducted in your normal training environment. You'll be able to assess your athletes or clients in the following areas: · Anthropometrics and body composition · Flexibility and balance · Agility and sprinting · Power · Muscular strength and endurance · Cardiorespiratory fitness

Cabaran dan tanggungjawab dalam mengurus sebuah organisasi sukan pada masa kini amat sukar dan berat untuk dipikul. Perkara ini disebabkan oleh peralihan pentadbiran sukan daripada ciri tradisional kepada struktur baru yang lebih bersifat profesional. Proses peralihan pentadbiran ini seharusnya akan menimbulkan kesan yang besar ke atas struktur, strategi dan operasi sesebuah organisasi sukan. Persatuan Sukan Kebangsaan di Malaysia pada masa kini ditadbir oleh kakitangan pengurusan secara sukarela dan dibantu oleh beberapa kakitangan profesional. Proses ini secara tidak langsung telah mengubah lanskap dan corak pentadbiran badan sukan kebangsaan secara berperingkat ke arah sistem yang lebih berorientasikan perniagaan dalam operasi harian mereka. Secara umumnya kandungan dalam buku ini membincangkan tentang tahap keberkesanan pengurusan Persatuan Sukan Kebangsaan yang terdapat di Malaysia yang didasari oleh beberapa model

Hassan, Abul. (2019). Islamic economics theory and practice. Taylor & Francis Group
This book is a comprehensive study, which provides informed knowledge within the field of Islamic economics. The authors lay down the principal philosophical foundation of a unique and universal theory of Islamic economics by contrasting it with the perspectives of mainstream economics. The methodological part of the theory of Islamic economics arises from the ethical foundations of the Qur'an and the Sunnah (tradition of the Prophet) along with learned exegeses in an epistemological derivation of the postulates and formalism of Islamic economics. This foundational methodology will be contrasted with the contemporary approaches of the random use of mainstream economic theory in Islamic economics. The book establishes the methodological foundation as the primal and most fundamental premise of the study leading to scientific formalism and the prospect of its application. By way of its Islamic epistemological explanation (philosophical premise) in the form of logical formalism and the use of simple real-world examples, the authors show the reader that the scientific nature of economics in general and Islamic economics in particular rests on the conception of the scientific worldview.

Just as the Industrial Revolution created distinct winners and losers, so the digital era has led to a climate where individuals, companies, and even entire industries and countries will either thrive or fall hopelessly behind. Gali Einav and a strong group of international contributors offer a guide to this brave new world in a timely collection that combines academic insights and entrepreneurial case studies focused on digital innovation. A first section brings together academic thought-leaders to offer in-depth perspectives on changes in the digital domain, and focusing these insights around real-world examples, a second section showcases insights into four technology startups that have disrupted their industries through digital innovation. By exploring the effect of disruptive technologies within media, health, music, and employment, this book helps readers to take their next steps into the digital future. Bhatti, Ayesha. (2019). Rethinking Islamic finance markets, regulations and Islamic law. Routledge.

Islamic finances phenomenal growth owes to the Shariah compliant nature of its financial instruments. Shariah forbids the charging of interest (Riba) and instead promulgates risk-sharing and trade-based modes of financing. The Islamic financial industry has been subject to both critique and admiration. Critics argue that Islamic instruments (bearing debt-based structures) differ from their conventional counterparts only in legal lexicon and not in economic impact. The admirers argue that such instruments, irrespective of wider economic implications, rigorously comply with juristically sound Islamic principles. This book aims to reconcile the above dispute. It argues that the financial impact of instruments is a consequence of the way they are priced and structured. The similarity in pricing and structures is an outcome not of the underlying Islamic financial modes but of the competitive environment in which Islamic instruments compete. Even risk-sharing and trade-based Islamic structures, if implemented in such an environment, would have a financial impact similar to that of conventional instruments.

Urbanization is the gradual process of shift in the population from rural to urban regions, and the change brought about in the society as an effect of this shift. This process is characterized by the formation and development of new towns and cities. Modernization, rationalization and industrialization are some related aspects of this phenomenon. The study of urbanization is particularly important in the domain of urban planning and urban development. It is a political and technical process involving the design of land utilization for accommodating a residential and built environment that includes transportation, distribution and communication networks, etc. Geographic mapping and analysis, population growth prediction, zoning, survey of the water supply, etc. are some significant aspects of this field. They are also essential for ensuring public welfare and protection of the environment. This book discusses the fundamentals as well as modern approaches of urbanization. Also included herein is a detailed explanation of the various concepts of urban development. It will help the readers in keeping pace with the rapid changes in these fields.

Schewe, Olav. (2018). Super student. Publishing House Sendirian Berhad.

Super Student author Olav Schewe a former Oxford University student is not a talented man. If he is introduced to three guests at a party, he always forgets the name of the first person before the last person introduces himself. In primary school, he obtained only moderate marks in most tests and assignments. About 10 years ago, something happened. In junior high school, Olav Schewe was suddenly thrown into a large group of intelligent students. At the same time, he was introduced to study techniques. He sat for the GMAT, the global entrance examination for master's education in finance and administration. In the GMAT, he was compared to everyone who sat for the exam in the past five years, over a million people. Finally, Olav Schewe belongs among the top 6 percent. Olav received offers from institutions such as Oxford University in Great Britain and Ivy League universities in the United States, namely the University of Pennsylvania and the Wharton school. He also received a {dollar} 50,000 scholarship offer including the prestigious Fulbright Scholarship. He felt great. Olav's own experience shows that we are able to learn better and get good results. The key is effort combined with good learning techniques and performance even though I myself took quite a while to find out about this.

"Student-Centered Coaching is a popular model of school-based coaching originated by author and consultant, Diane Sweeney. The core premise of Student-Centered Coaching is that coaches and teachers measure their respective impact based on student learning. In other words, the job of the coach isn't to "fix" teachers. Rather coaches work with teachers on (1) setting specific targets for students that are rooted in the standards and curriculum and (2) work collaboratively to ensure that these targets are met. A common obstacle to the effectiveness of school-based coaching initiatives is that, despite increased levels of investment for hiring and training coaches, we have failed to recognize the critical role of principal leadership in ensuring their success. The proposed title will introduce a concrete set of leadership moves for principals who seek to support a coaching effort in their own schools. When principals lack strategies for leading a coaching effort, they will encounter significant barriers to reaching their goal of positively impacting teaching and learning. This concrete and action-oriented guide will provide principals as well as district leaders with the background, practices, and tools for leading coaching efforts that result in increased learning for students and teacher alike"

This book examines the principles and practice of authentic assessment. It seeks to answer the following questions. What is authentic assessment? How is authentic assessment different from 'performance assessment' or 'alternative assessment'? How can authentic assessment support learner-centred education, especially when a performance-oriented culture favours pen-and-paper examinations? The book is structured into two major parts. The first, 'Principles of authentic assessment design', provides readers with a conceptual explanation of authenticity; the principles for designing quality authentic assessments for valid evidence of student learning; and guidance about how to develop quality rubrics to structure assessment tasks. The second part of the book, 'Theory into practice' provides examples developed by teachers to demonstrate an understanding of authentic assessment. The subject areas covered include humanities, languages, mathematics, sciences, character and citizenship. Two case studies are discussed to demonstrate how authentic assessment can be used to comprehensively address key learning objectives in a variety of curriculum contexts.

Banks, James A. (2020). Multicultural education issues and perspectives. (10th ed). GreatBook Prices.

"Multicultural Education: Issues and Perspectives, 10e, is designed to help current and future educators acquire the concepts, paradigms, and explanations needed to become effective practitioners in culturally, racially, linguistically, and social-class diverse classrooms and schools. An important goal of this book is to help teachers attain a sophisticated understanding of the concept of culture and to view race, class, gender, social class, and exceptionality as interacting concepts rather than as separate and distinct. Consequently, intersectionality--or how race, class, gender, and exceptionality are fluid variables that interact in complex ways--is an overarching concept in this book. Racial, cultural, ethnic, linguistic, and religious diversity presents both opportunities and challenges to educators. Diversity continues to increase in the United States. There is a wide and growing ethnic, cultural, social-class, and linguistic gap between most of the nation's teachers and their students. Teachers are faced with both the challenges and opportunities of dealing with diversity creatively and constructively in their classrooms and schools".

Bogart Julie. (2019). The brave learner finding everyday magic in homeschool, learning, and life. TarcherPerigee.

Parents who are deeply invested in their children's education can be hard on themselves and their kids. When exhausted parents are living the day-to-day grind, it can seem impossible to muster enough energy to make learning fun or interesting. How do parents nurture a love of learning amid childhood chaos, parental self-doubt, the flu, and state academic standards? In this book, Julie Bogart distills decades of experience--homeschooling her five now grown children, developing curricula, and training homeschooling families around the world--to show parents how to make education an exciting, even enchanting, experience for their kids, whether they're in elementary or high school. Enchantment is about ease, not striving. Bogart shows parents how to make room for surprise, mystery, risk, and adventure in their family's routine, so they can create an environment that naturally moves learning forward. If a child wants to pick up a new hobby or explore a subject area that the parent knows little about, it's easy to simply say "no" to end the discussion and the parental discomfort, while dousing their child's curious spark. Bogart gently invites parents to model brave learning for their kids so they, too, can approach life with curiosity, joy, and the courage to take learning risks.

"Despite their close geographic and cultural ties, Indonesia and Malaysia have dramatically different Islamic education, with that in Indonesia being relatively decentralized and discursively diverse, while that in Malaysia is centralized and discursively restricted. The book explores the nature of the Islamic education systems in Indonesia and Malaysia and the different approaches taken by these states in managing these systems. The book argues that the post-colonial state in Malaysia has been more successful in centralising its control over Islamic education, and more concerned with promoting a restrictive orthodoxy, compared to the post-colonial state in Indonesia. This is due to three factors: the ideological makeup of the state institutions that oversee Islamic education; patterns of societal Islamisation that have prompted different responses from the states; and control of resources by the central government that influences centre-periphery relations. Informed by the theoretical works of state-in-society relations and historical institutionalism, this book shows that the three aforementioned factors can help a state to minimize influence from the society and exert its dominance, in this case by centralising control over Islamic education. Specifically, they help us understand the markedly different landscapes of Islamic education in Malaysia and Indonesia"

Siti Zainon Ismail. (2018). Malay woven textiles the beauty of a classic art form. Dewan Bahasa dan Pustaka.

Malay Woven Textiles: The Beauty of a Classic Art Form is a long study on woven textiles in Nusantara (the Malay world), intended to supplement the work of foreign scholars and earlier commentators. More recently, a number of local studies have appeared, including Norwani Mohd. Nawawi's Songket Malaysia (1989) and Grace Silvanayagam's Songket (1990). The author, too, has published analysis of songket, batik and tekat in her book Reka Bentuk Kraf Tangan Melayu Tradisi (1986). Each of these works is, however, limited to the description of textiles from the Malay Peninsula. In Malay Woven Textiles: The Beauty of a Classic Art Form, the author concerned with a variety of forms of textiles and with the Malay world as a whole. The author understanding of the term "the Malay world" is not constrained by current political boundaries. Rather, the author seeks to work within an anthropological framework and to incorporate the additional data provided by literary texts and ethnography. In the author's opinion, similarities in form and materials employed are sufficient to create a unified culture area. Koentjara-ningrat suggests that the existence of a related group of cultural traits is the fundamental criterion for the establishment of a culture area or region.

Tajino, Akira. (2018). A new approach to english pedagogical grammar the order of meanings. Routledge.

This book proposes Meaning-order Approach to Pedagogical Grammar (MAP Grammar) as a practical pedagogical approach in ESL and EFL contexts. Teaching grammar through an easy-to-understand three-dimensional model, MAP Grammar establishes the clause as the fundamental unit of English and interprets meaning units in the sentence, thus allowing visualizable association between individual grammar items. By focusing on the order of meaning (rather than the order of words) in a sentence, MAP Grammar also distills current descriptive sentence structures (typically taught as five or seven patterns) into one meaning-based sentence structure for teaching and learning. MAP Grammar makes syllabus design and teaching easier in the following ways: Visualizing English grammar in a clear model, allowing association between individual grammar items. Instruction relies on meaning, not metalanguage, making MAP Grammar easy to grasp. The meaning-based sentence structure allows teachers to address global errors, and learners to produce comprehensible English.

Clement James. (2018). Teaching english by the book putting literature at the heart of the primary curriculum. Routledge

Teaching English by the Book is about putting great books, wonderful poems and rich texts at the heart of English teaching, transforming children's attitudes to reading and writing and having a positive impact on learning. It offers a practical approach to teaching a text-based curriculum, full of strategies and ideas that are immediately useable in the classroom. Written by James Clements, teacher, researcher, writer, and creator of shakespeareandmore.com, Teaching English by the Book provides effective ideas for enthusing children about literature, poetry and picturebooks. It offers techniques and activities to teach grammar, punctuation and spelling, provides support and guidance on planning lessons and units for meaningful learning, and shows how to bring texts to life through drama and the use of multimedia and film texts. Teaching English by the Book is for all teachers who aspire to use great books to introduce children to ideas beyond their own experience, encounter concepts that have never occurred to them before, to hear and read beautiful language, and experience what it's like to lose themselves in a story, developing a genuine love of English that will stay with them forever

This book is a collection of story actual experiences throughout being in assignments at O&G (Obstetrics & Gynaecology) in a hospital that loves callous writers as Tarbiah Hospital. This is the first posting of the author as a young doctor who is still in the housemanship phase. An early phase in this area of employment. The challenging phase is also for people who first venture into this field in reality. The authors feel, working in hospital is actually a pretty valuable award for God's favor. Every day, there are ibrah that educates the heart, self-reclaiming. However, this ibrah is rarely known to everyone especially those who do not work in his field. Therefore, the author feels obliged to share to the world about the tarbiah found in this Tarbiah Hospital. Often the author will share this story every time there is free time on Facebook posts. So, don't be strange if the language that the author uses is like reading a diary yes!.

Keluarga Aidan pula meletakkan kesalahan di atas bahu Dhiya kerana masih tak mampu lahirkan zuriat untuk suami. Tak mahu terus didera mentalnya, Dhiya mohon untuk undur diri. Namun tidak mudah untuk Dhiya melalui hari-hari tanpa Aidan. Dia hilang arah, kecewa dan terlalu mengharap Aidan kembali. "Move on la Dhiya, nak meratap-ratap lagi buat apa? Sebab tu banyak lelaki yang melampau! Sebab ramai perempuan lemah!" - Dzikri Hafiy Berkat sokongan keluarga dan lebih-lebih lagi Dzikri, Dhiya bangkit semula untuk mulakan hidup baru. Berhijrah ke tempat yang jauh, rancang sesuatu untuk terus melupakan kesakitan lalu disamping membantu sepupunya, Inas yang turut mengalami nasib yang sama. Dhiya berkenalan dengan Arneesa yang ditindas suami dan keluarga mentua. Mereka jadi sangat rapat dan saling membantu serta menyokong antara satu sama lain. Selepas melalui fasa getir, Dhiya semakin bahagia dan bertambah sempurna dengan kehadiran Maream. Dzikri melamar Dhiya untuk dijadikan isteri setelah berbelas-belas tahun menunggu masa yang sesuai. Apakah jawapan Dhiya? Dhiya tahu yang Arneesa terlalu menaruh harapan pada Dzikri. Malahan Arneesa itu seorang wanita yang lebih teruk deritanya berbanding Dhiya. Bermakna Arneesa lebih memerlukan lelaki sebaik Dzikri sebagai pelindung. Aidan dan keluarganya juga muncul semula untuk memujuk Dhiya kembali kepada mereka, sementelah Maream itulah satu-satunya penyambung keturunan yang ditunggu-tunggu. Siapakah pilihan Dhiya untuk terus mencipta bahagia? Dzikri Hafiy yang telah banyak berkorban untuknya atau menerima semula Aidan, ayah kandung Maream? Ujian datang dan pergi. Setiap hari kita perlu hadap ujian-ujian kecil. Kadang selesema, kadang anak membentak, kadang pemandu kereta lain memotong cara berbahaya, kadang selipar hilang di masjid. Ya, semua itu ujian berbentuk musibah yang buat jiwa kita gundah dan resah gelisah. Ujian kecil-kecilan sahaja, tetapi setiap hari ada-ada saja halnya! Kemudian, sesekali Allah hantarkan pula ujian besar. Ada yang rumahnya terbakar, ada yang kemalangan jalan raya hingga meragut nyawa ahli keluarga, ada yang rugi besar dalam perniagaan hingga diisytiharkan muflis, bahkan ada sedang bergelut musibah besar, terpaksa bertarung pula dengan musibah yang lebih besar. Ini kes jatuh ditimpa tangga! Mahu buat apa? Marah? Menggelabah? Melayankan resah dan gelisah? Jangan. Sedapat mungkin, kita kena cuba kawal perasaan. Jiwa kena kuat dan tak boleh dimanja-manjakan sangat. Banyakkan bertenang. Biar tampak matang dengan sebenar-benar matang! Inilah antara pesanan yang boleh kita dapat dalam buku Relakslah! Buku yang bukan setakat bagi nasihat acah-acah suci tapi memang dibawakan bukti daripada pengalaman kisah benar 51 orang penulisnya sendiri. Pokok utama isu ialah tentang relaks. Tentang tenang-tenang berdepan sesuatu situasi atau ujian. Stay calm. Memang dalam hidup ini kita sendiri kena jadi pendekar untuk perjuangkan syurga kita! Tapi jangan risau. Allah ada. Allah akan Thebingkisanhati. (2020). Bangkitlah jiwa. Galeri Ilmu Sdn. Bhd.

THE BOOK RISE SOUL presents a special nuance from two writers' minds, the first collaboration between The Bingkisan Hati with Azura Zamri. In consensus, they lowered the meaning of writing after it would surely be discussed between them that the form of delivery of poeticity as well as a simple language style, suitable for all walks of life. Their delegation is related to the ever-thirsty psyche of His Creator's love. It is a collection of words that follow the footsteps of the souls that are in the diverse taste. Its contents besides fulfilling order breakdowns, stacked verses carry the beat of unsuccessful circumstances from universal human life. Spilled all the causes and excuses, the soul is overwhelmed by the struggle of feelings with the squeeping of the trial which has not yet reached the point of settlement. Hopefully, hopefully, this book will be among the books that are not forgotten from the forgetfulness of the readers' memory. Arty or thickness of a book, which is good and perfect comes from Allah Ta'ala.

"Abbie awakens in a daze with no memory of who she is or how she landed in this unsettling condition. The man by her side claims to be her husband. He's a titan of the tech world, the founder of one of Silicon Valley's most innovative start-ups. He tells Abbie that she is a gifted artist, an avid surfer, a loving mother to their young son, and the perfect wife. He says she had a terrible accident five years ago and that, through a huge technological breakthrough, she has been brought back from the abyss. She is a miracle of science. But as Abbie pieces together memories of her marriage, she begins questioning her husband's motives--and his version of events. Can she trust him when he says he wants them to be together forever? And what really happened to Abbie half a decade ago?"

"There are 1.2 million human-size rabbits living in the UK. They can walk, talk, drive cars, and they like to read Voltaire, the result of an Inexplicable Anthropomorphizing Event fifty-five years before. A family of rabbits is about to move into Much Hemlock, a cozy little village in Middle England where life revolves around summer fetes, jam making, gossipy corner stores, and the oh-so-important Best Kept Village awards. No sooner have the rabbits arrived than the villagers decide they must depart, citing their propensity to burrow and breed, and their shameless levels of veganism. But Mrs Constance Rabbit is made of sterner stuff, and her and her family decide they are to stay. Unusually, their neighbors--longtime resident Peter Knox and his daughter, Pippa--decide to stand with them . . . and soon discover that you can be a friend to rabbits or humans, but not both. With a blossoming romance, acute cultural differences, enforced rehoming to a MegaWarren in Wales, and the full power of the ruling United Kingdom Anti-Rabbit Party against them, Peter and Pippa are about to question everything they had ever thought about their friends, their nation, and their species. An inimitable blend of satire, fantasy, and thriller, The Constant Rabbit is the latest dazzlingly original foray into Jasper Fforde's ever-astonishing creative genius"

Zebian, Najwa. (2018). Mind Platter. McMeel Publishing.

Mind Platter is a compilation of reflections on life through the eyes of an educator, student and human who experienced most of life in silence. It is written in the words of a person who came from Lebanon to Canada at the age of sixteen and experienced what it was like to have fate push you to a place where you don't belong. It is written in the voice of every person who ever felt unheard, mistreated, misjudged or unseen. Mind Platter contains around 200 one-page entries as reflections on different topics that we encounter in our everyday lives; love, friendship, hurt, inspiration, respect, wholeheartedness, motivation, integrity, honesty and more. Mind Platter is not about the words that are in it, but about what the reader makes of them. This book does not only belong to me. It belongs to everyone whose path crossed mine. Had my journey not have been what it was, with every story and every detail, I would not be the same person today. May this book give a voice to those who need one, be a crying shoulder for those who need someone to listen, and inspire those who need a reminder of the power that they have over their lives.

The Nasrid builders of the Alhambra - the best-preserved medieval Muslim palatial city - were so exacting that some of their work could not be fully explained until the invention of fractal geometry. Their design principles have been obscured, however, by the loss of all archival material. This book resolves that impasse by investigating the neglected, interdisciplinary contexts of medieval poetics and optics and through comparative study of Islamic court ceremonials. This reframing enables the reconstruction of the underlying, integrated aesthetic, focusing on the harmonious interrelationship between diverse artistic media - architecture, poetry and textiles - in the experience of the beholder, resulting in a new understanding of the Alhambra.

Eight steps, two pathways, one book. The Fifth Edition of the bestseller Research Methodology has reimagined, redesigned, and fully renovated how a textbook can help students achieve success in their methods course or research project. Eight steps: Foolproof for any beginner researcher, the book breaks the process of designing and doing a research project into achievable stages. It delivers students from research problem to their written research report at the pace they need, with clear explanations, DIY tasks and study skills support. In a new landscape format it presents figures, models and visualizations elegantly, so they don't break over a page, making even complex concepts easier to understand. Two pathways: With an innovative, beautiful design, regular progress checkpoints have been built into the book and its online resources. As students proceed through the 8 steps, each chapter provides regular opportunities for students to check understanding or give themselves a challenge. Each pathway then gives them the resources they need. Confused? Stop, practise with quizzes and flashcards, or use a video to look at a concept a different way. Up for a challenge? Access a wealth of additional material including research articles, readings, case studies, activities, bibliography tools and inspiration to pursue your curiosity, impress your lecturer, and nail your assignments. With this one book, every student gets what they need to succeed. It is the perfect essential text for students and beginner researchers across the social sciences.

Wallace, Donald. (2018). Climate change, policy and security state and human impacts. Taylor & Francis Ltd.

This book examines the multiple strategies proposed by the international community for addressing global climate change (GCC) from both human and state-security perspectives. It examines what is needed from major states working within the UN framework to engage with the multiple dimensions of a strategy that addresses GCC and its impacts, where such engagement promotes both human and state security. Two broad frameworks for approaching these issues provide the basis of discussion for the individual chapters, which discuss the strategies being undertaken by major state powers (the US, the EU, China, India, Japan, and Russia). The first framework considers the multiple strategies, mitigation, adaptation, and capacity-building required of the international community to address the effects of GCC. The second framework considers the differentiation of GCC policies in terms of security and how the efficacy of these strategies could be impacted by whether priority is given to state security over human security concerns. This book will be of much interest to students of human security, climate change, foreign policy, and International Relations Freeman, Scott. (2020). Biological science. (17th ed). Pearson.

Discover biology, develop skills, and make connections Known for its discovery-based, student-centered approach, Scott Freeman's Biological Science emphasizes higher-order thinking, enhances skill development, and promotes active learning. Biological Science equips students with strategies that go beyond memorization and guides them in making connections between core concepts and content, underscoring principles from the Vision and Change in Undergraduate Biology Education report. Students learn to apply their knowledge throughout the course, assess their level of understanding, and identify the types of cognitive skills that need improvement. The 7th Edition enables students to see that biology concepts are connected by weaving one case study throughout the entire text, helping students make connections across biology. New content includes updated coverage of advances in genomic editing, global climate change, and recent insights into the evolution of land plants. New embedded Pearson eText assets support content in the text with whiteboard Making Models videos, Figure Walkthrough videos, and BioFlix animations that engage students, help them learn, and guide them in completing assignments. Also available with Mastering Biology By combining trusted author content with digital tools and a flexible platform, Mastering personalizes the learning experience and improves results for each student. Integrate dynamic content and tools with Mastering Biology and enable students to practice, build skills, and apply their knowledge. Built for, and directly tied to the text, Mastering Biology enables an extension of learning, allowing students a platform to practice, learn, and apply outside of the classroom.

Borges, Bruno Augusto Amoto. (2018). Ecology and management of aquatic environments. Delve Publishing.

Aquatic environments have an important role in the maintenance of life on Earth, occupying approximately 2/3 of the land area and represent large portion on primary productivity of the planet. Currently, according to the FAO (2016), the total production of aquatic organisms by-catch (including fish, molluscs, crustaceans, etc.) represents 83.5 million tonnes in the year 2014, with a stable production for some years. On the other hand, aquaculture has grown enough in recent years. In the year 2006 the total output of aquatic organisms through cultivation was approximately 45 million tonnes in 2014 the production over 73 million tonnes. In this sense, aquaculture is becoming increasingly important and critical to maintaining the productivity required by the demand to supply the world market, in addition to serve as a mechanism for the production of organisms affected by overfishing. It is clearly now that the worldwide demand for seafood will continue to rise. Increased production from aquaculture may meet some of this demand (Kennelly and Broadhurst 2002). Several improvements and has been employed in aquaculture, seeking to reduce the environmental impacts that the activity generates. The use of water and pollution are among the main problems that activity has been showing from an environmental point of view. In this way, it is extremely important to employ management techniques that minimize such impacts while maintaining productivity. To develop an efficient production of food is essential to the understanding of the processes of assimilation and nutritional demand, in addition to handling and appropriate use. So, it is necessary to search for increasingly apply management techniques that integrate different species with productive potential and bioremediation of environment

Is running barefoot beneficial? What is the most mechanically efficient way to move a piece of heavy furniture? Can stretching before a competition worsen performance? How do cats always land on their feet? The answers to these questions are all based on the science of biomechanics. In Basic Biomechanics, Eighth Edition, the focus is on the anatomy and movement capabilities of the human body, explained with examples of relevant sport, clinical, and daily living applications. The quantitative aspects of biomechanics are presented in a manageable, progressive fashion, using a structured and problem-based format with practical advice. This edition also retains the important sensitivity to the fact that some beginning students of biomechanics possess weak backgrounds in mathematics. For this reason, it includes numerous sample problems and applications, along with practical advice on approaching quantitative problems.

274. S405 .A37 2018

Kerner, Elias. (2018). Agronomy. Scitus Academics.

In recent times, agronomy has assumed newer dimensions and can be defined as a branch of agricultural science that deals with methods which provide a favorable environment to the crop for higher productivity. It considers the whole range of influences on crop production, including climate and adaptation, soil, water and water availability, crop genetics, the properties of the soil and how the soil interacts with the growing crop; what nutrients the crop needs; the ways that crops grow and develop; and how best to control weeds, insects, fungi, and other crop pests. Non-biological considerations such as economic requirements and consumer and farmer behavior also inform agronomic practices, as do environmental constraints. The emphasis of agronomy is now more towards the scientific study of the behavior of plant under the different environmental conditions like varying soils and climate, irrigation, fertilization etc. by conducting well laid out experiments in the fields, pots & laboratories. It is also involving application of research in the field or forming suitable packages of practices under a given set of conditions. There is a considerable amount of literature showing that an effective agro-ecosystem management, improving nutrient use efficiency, is a crucial challenge for a more sustainable production of horticultural, industrial and cereal crops. As a matter of fact, as agronomic efficiency (i.e., nutrients recovered within the soil-crop system) improves, economic (farm income is maximized from proper use of nutrient inputs) and environmental efficiency (reduced risk of nutrient losses) will benefit.
