ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Alhamdulilah, praise to Allah and His blessings and Almighty, the research paper which is about mobile interactive storytelling with haptic interaction is able to complete it on time duration given.

Firstly, I would like to thank to my supervisor, Dr. Marina Ismail for her encouragement, valuable guidance, advice every meeting time, and moral support throughout the completion of this research paper.

Secondly, I would like to dedicate my gratefulness to Pn. Suzana Baharuddin for her encouragement during lab session and kindness in providing me the useful information needed in order for me to submit this research paper until to the dateline. I would like to thank to Mohd Yunus Mohd Yusof for his guidance during lecture session and his comment and advice for me in order to complete this research paper.

Thirdly, also the special appreciation goes to my beloved parents and all my friends for their supports and continuously encourages me to prepare this paper.

Lastly, thanks for those who had given their supports either involved direct or indirect during the progress to complete this research paper.

Thank you.

ABSTRACT

The interactive storytelling has become an instructional and learning tool for children and students. This research paper identifies a summary of interactive storytelling. To analyze the better interactive storytelling, this research described how the storytelling which combined with haptic interaction for mobile can be used to support instruction process and how users can have their interaction with the application by using haptic interaction for mobile approach. In addition, the content presented is about the Sunnah of Prophet Muhammad s.a.w. that can be used to improve quality of human life. The research paper also accomplishes with an overview that has been and needs to be conducted on the appreciation of Sunnah in human daily life.
