

JEWELLERY BOX INSPIRED BY ISTANA KENANGAN

Also known as the Palace of Memories, Istana Kenangan is made of wood (without a single metal nail) and bamboo woven into diamond-shaped patterns across its exterior walls. Built in 1926 it served as temporary royal quarters until the nearby Istana Iskandariah was completed. It was also used as a stopgap mausoleum for members of the royal family awaiting burial.

The Istana Kenangan (Jawi script: اڤستان كنڠن; Remembrance Palace) was a royal residence in Kuala Kangsar in Perak, Malaysia.
