About The Book

This book is a compilation of summaries that describe the programmes that have been run by the academics and students at the Faculty of Education, Universiti Teknologi MARA. The main objective of the programmes is to create a platform for the faculty members to take part in social innovation projects in the local community. More importantly, the programmes also complement the students' regular class experience as they also can learn a range of skills that can make them more active socially and entrepreneurially.

Definition of social innovation:

Social innovations are new ideas that meet social needs, create social relationships and form new collaborations. These innovations can be products, services or models addressing unmet needs more effectively.

11. Taburkan Jasa & Semaikan Budi Programme

Contributor

Siti Zuraida Maaruf

What

The main objective of the Taburkan Jasa & Semaikan Budi event was to expose university students to an experience that they have never gone through before and to nurture a culture of respect and care towards all members of the special needs community. It is also to encourage cooperation among the students from the Faculty of Education, UiTM Selangor with the hope that the event will not only be successful but also impactful to the community it serves.

Who

Thirty-seven (37) students and three (3) staff members from the Faculty of Education, UiTM together with twenty (20) participated in this programme .

When

It was held on 5 October 2019

Where

Pusat Pemulihan Dalam Masyarakat (PDK) Penyayang Bukit Changgang, Banting, Selangor.

Story

A community service set up in the essence of compassion to provide proper care and education for special needs students who live around Banting. The organization offers various programs to enhance the students' soft skills, hard skills, education, as well as social and language development. The age range of the students at the event are approximately 5 to 30 years old. There were 3 activities that were executed simultaneously. The first activity was embroidery where we taught the adolescent students on how to decorate a plain fabric using a needle to apply yarn to form a shape of a flower. The second activity was teaching the younger students to do tie-dye. The process of tie-dye is basically folding, twisting, and tying a fabric or a piece of garment and dipping it into various coloured dyes. Finally, communal work was carried out around the establishment such as sweeping the floors and cleaning the windows. We also contributed an amount of money in hopes to ease a little the burden of the welfare organization. There were also a few personal contributions such as a wheelchair given by one of the volunteers and clothes by another.

Beneficiaries/ Stakeholders

The event has helped the students and staff of the Faculty of Education to have better understanding on how to handle the proper care and special needs students. The event has also enhanced the proper care and special needs children's soft skills, hard skills, education, as well as social and language development.

Key lessons

It is hoped that the special needs students will always be blessed with a good life and loving people surrounding them. If one thing out of many that this event had taught everyone of us is that we should always be grateful with what we have been blessed with and to remember that there are still other people who yearn to have what we may have taken for granted.
