ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research is very challenging to us. The information and data constraints make it difficult to do this research as the study on this field are very limited by the other researcher. However, the determination, hardworking and faith in completing this research are motivating us to be eager and more independent as a student.

We really thank to our supervisor, Madam Jennifah Nordin for her advises and supports in finishing this research during classes and even outside the classes. Her determination and motivation kept motivated us to work harder and we greatly appreciate what she has done for us.

I also would like to thank our parents, the related organization, lecturers, friends and members that help us to complete this project. Your supports become our pillar strength to not give up and valuing our lessons in order to complete the research. We also thank to anyone that helps and support us directly and indirectly. We really appreciate your kindness and hope all your businesses will be simplified by God.

In completing this research, we taught many lessons, values and ethical manners. We faced challenges from mentally and physically, expect the unexpected but however we manage to reach the end of line. We are greatly proud to our self for the eagerness and spirit to see the return of this research.

As whole, we thank to God for His blessing and without the faith we will never successfully completed this study.

THE ABSTRACT

Abstract

Bisaya community practices Babulang for many years ago. Babulang was known as main event and ritual among the Bisaya community. The last traditional activities of Babulang was held at end of 1960s. Now, the Babulang was transformed into new understanding and concept where the main organizer of Bisaya community has changed it into festival event. The purpose of this study is to find the understanding of Bisaya community towards the sustainability of Festival Babulang based on the four variables; end of haversting seasons, symbol of richness, preservation of cultural heritage and promote unity. A sample size of 100 villagers have selected from Kampung Batu Danau, Limbang Sarawak to fill in the questionnaires and interviewed to study the nature of Babulang before the new understanding. The higher component of the understanding of Festival Babulang among the Bisaya Community is the preservation of cultural heritage which they know this component are most important to sustain the festival. Bisaya community has two different level of generation on understanding toward sustainability, in which those young and old generation•have no different understanding at Kampung Batu Danau, Limbang. There is also no different in the understanding of Bisaya community toward the sustainability of Festival Babulang based on educational background. The study shows that nature of Festival Babulang has slightly different from the new concept of Babulang as Babulang nowadays known as festival's event.
