ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Assalamualaikum wbt.

In the process of completing this academic paper, there are challenges and obstacles that had encountered. However, thanks to perseverance and patience, it did succeed in finally completed.

Thank you who have given assistance, guidance and moral support. In this occasion, I would like to express my appreciation and thanks to all the parties involved.

First of all, thanks to the Almighty that given strength and patience for me to complete this paper.

Nest to my advisor, Dr Imbarine Bujang, thank you for help, criticism and guidance given. To Universiti Teknologi Mara (UiTM), my appreciation for their assistance in the form of facilities provided.

Appreciation also to my classmates who gave me so much information. And also the library staff

UiTM Sabah on the cooperation given over. Do not forget, my appreciation and gratitude to mother and family on the sacrifices and time worked.

May Allah bless all the efforts and support.

Thank you

ABSTRACT

In this paper, the effect of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) on Agriculture and Economic Growth are examined. The aim of this paper is to examine the effect by FDI on the Agriculture and Economic Growth in Malaysia based on econometric models. The studies on Malaysia by using World Bank Data Catalogue and Department of Statistic Malaysia data from 1980 to 2010 which consist 30 years-length. It is observed that FDI has a positive effect on Agriculture and Economic Growth but then. The study recommends rethinking the higher technology on this sector and setup for increasing the productivity and growth of agriculture just like economic growth effected by FDI. An important implication of the results is that only GDP and Agriculture have a short term affected, furthermore FDI more affected on GDP than Agriculture .
