Our journey to complete this research is like a roller coaster ride. Despite all those challenges we had to face, fortunately, there are so many parties that was being so helpful to us. Without all of them, it would be impossible for us to finish this thesis on time. Thankfully, our circle are very supportive and always ready to provide us with any help.

Firstly, we would like to express this gratitude feeling to our supervisor Dr. Asmidar Binti Lokman who has been giving us a lot of help. She taught us to look at every problem and issue in a different way so that we could see the real issue behind every problem. She never hesitate to provide help and guidance so that we could understand well and finish our thesis. We really appreciate her time, sacrifices, and efforts in assisting us.

Secondly, to all of our friends and classmates, thank you very much for all of your help. Even though everyone was so busy, they still make time to help us. We really appreciate your kindness. Lastly, to our beloved family, thank you very much for being so understanding and very supportive. They are the reasons why we managed to fully complete this thesis, as our mental and physical health is draining, they were the ones who remind us to get some rest. Therefore, we dedicated this thesis to our beloved family. Alhamdulillah, praise the Almighty God without whose blessings we would not get to successfully complete this thesis.

Abstract

The goal of this study is to investigate the impact of online classes towards University students' academic performance during COVID-19. There are three factors that have been observed in this study that influences the academic performance of the students which are student participation, the socioeconomic of students, and the study environment. The objective of this research study is to examine the relationship between all those factors with the dependent variable which is students' academic performance. In this study, the Simple Random Sampling method has been used and there are 300 respondents involved to answer the questionnaire. It has been distributed to students in UiTM Seremban 3 only through the digital platform. All the responses in the questionnaires have been key in SPSS and the details of the result can be seen through the data given. Based on the result, it shows that all three factors have significant relationship with students' academic performance therefore, the online study impacts students' academic performance. Thus, it shows that the strongest factor that has influenced the academic performance of the students is the study environment with higher Beta value.
