ABSTRACT

In an Islamic perspective, it is critical to handle large finance, such as zakat, which serves as micro finance (non-payable) for the Ummah, in order to maintain good socioeconomic conditions. The productive receiver (Asnaf) towards Asnaf Entrepreneurial Programme (AEP) has been investigated in depth in this study through a specific issue under the Turning Over Model. The zakat institution's attempts to improve the efficiency of distribution have had a number of positive effects on Asnaf's social economy. This social economic system serves mostly as a supplement for other Asnafs who are still alive. However, certain concerns need be reviewed in order to meet the Turning Over Model's goal. As a result, the purpose of this study is to look into some of the challenges that will be problematic in accomplishing the model's goals.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First, I would like to thank God for allowing me to start my Diploma and complete this long and challenging journey. I would like to thank my supervisor, Ustaz Wahairi Bin Mahmud, who was very kind and patient in guiding me. Thank you for your support, patience and ideas in helping me with this project. I would also like to thank all the zakat officer in selangor for answering the questions I have provided. Not forgetting to thank my sister, Nur Anis Nabila for improving my knowledge on how to make quantitative analysis, equip facilities, expertise and assistance.

I would like to express my gratitude to my dear friends from the Muamalat faculty who provided and always shared facilities and assistance while taking samples. Special thanks to my friends and colleagues for helping me with this project.

Finally, this final year project is dedicated to the loving memory of my father and mother, who are very fond of the vision and determination to educate me. This part of the victory is dedicated to both of you. Alhamdulillah. Hopefully, everything goes smoothly and successfully
