INTRODUCTION TO BUSINESS PLAN

According to the book, Fundamental of Entrepreneurship (2006), Business Plan is a written document that serves as a blue print and guide for a proposed business project that one intends to undertake. As well explained in the book, Business Plan indicates business activities needed in establishing and running the proposed business, for example details of product or services, the market for the product or services, and the management of the business providing that product or services. Besides that, the business plans also the platform for a business owner to measures success in meeting stated goals and objectives. Last but not least business plan is also an ideal tool for obtaining a loan from lending agency, or for attracting venture capital, allowing those institutions to review the background and details of the business for loan approval and investment decision.

PURPOSES OF PREPARING BUSINESS PLAN

As explained earlier, having a Business Plan is important and it is prepared for various reasons. As a new competitive company, SPICE CHILIES PLANTATION had prepared this Business Plan OR Business Proposal for these purposes:

- Allowing the partnership members to view and evaluate the proposed business venture in an objective critical and practical manner.

The business plan comes with solid information as a supplement to the planning and decision-making. Besides, SPICE CHILIES PLANTATION Business proposal attribute the partners in viewing the business venture in a more realistic and practical way.

- To analyse and evaluate the stability of proposed venture.

SPICE CHILIES PLANTATION are venturing in the field agriculture, a field of business that is being perceived by others for not making long run profits. Therefore, the business plan enables information gathering analysis to be done and can give early indication as to viability to the chilies plantation project.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

SPICE CHILIES PLANTATION is an agricultural food production company aimed to be the main producer and supplier of hot and spicy chilies. To be a leader in chili production, a synergistic collaboration must be maintained between the company and the government through conjoined efforts of improving production level and technology . systematic development based on Research and Development (R & D) from the government and developed technologies adapted will be sustainable and thus benefits all for generations to come.

Under the Third National Agriculture Policy 1998-2010 (NAP3), the agriculture sector is earmark to be the third engine of growth after the industry and services (Ministry of Agriculture Malaysia, 1999). The main aim of this NAP3 is to maximizes income from the agriculture utilization of resources and improved technology. Parallel in gearing NAP3, SPICE CHILIES PLANTATION had taken appropriate strategies and moves towards realizing those aims, emphasizing to promote food production activities within mangrove area as it contributions to reduce huge food import bill.
