CHAPTER 1

TITLE : The Influence of Personal Hobby on Personality of Nursing Students in UiTM Sarawak

1.0 INTRODUCTION

Hobbies are practiced for interest and enjoyment, rather than financial reward. Examples include collecting, creative, and artistic pursuits, making, tinkering, sports and adult education. Engaging in a hobby can lead to acquiring substantial skill, knowledge and experience. However, personal fulfillment is the aim. What are hobbies for some people are professions for others: a chef may enjoy cooking as a hobby, while a professional game tester might enjoy playing computer games. Generally speaking, the person who does something for fun, not remuneration, is called an amateur, as a distinct from a professional.

2.0 DEFINITION OF TERMS/CONCEPTS

Influence can be defined as a process through which a person attempt to extract compliance with his or her intentions from others. It can also affect their attitudes, values and perceptions which involve the evaluative statements of judgments concerning objects, people and events reflecting how they feel towards something.

Personality means a dynamic concept describing the growth and development of a person's whole psychological system that determine the unique adjustment to the environment. It is also can be defined as the sum total of ways in which an individual reacts to and interact with others.

Hobby can be defined as the activity that people do during their free or leisure time. This is because hobby can only be done aside from their daily routine such as work and practiced for the interest and enjoyment. It is also a way to release and avoid stress.
