Academic Trip to UNESCO World Heritage Site in Georgetown, Penang

By: Dian Aszyanti Atirah Mohd. Asri (Dr.) & Siti Aisyah Tumin

On June 25th, 2023, a colleague and I embarked on an academic visit to historical attractions in Penang with a group of students from the Faculty of Hotel and Tourism Management, UiTM Permatang Pauh, Pulau Pinang. The academic trip consisted of 41 students from the Diploma in Culinary Arts and the Diploma in Food Service Management.

Upon our arrival, we were cordially greeted by the tour guide, Mr. Zaini. He commenced the tour by providing us with an in-depth overview of the ancient history of Fort Cornwallis. He was delighted to be able to share his knowledge and history of this UNESCO World Heritage Site located in Georgetown, Penang. Additionally, students learned about the struggles faced by historical leaders and the weapons used during those eras, as well as having the opportunity to view the biggest and most well-known cannon named Seri Rambai.

Events Highlights

The weather conditions were exceptionally favourable on that day. We continued our excursion to discover the magnificent Cheong Fatt Tze Mansion, also known as the Blue Mansion. The Blue Mansion offers not only visually appealing aesthetics but is currently converted into a beautifully designed boutique hotel with a pool, a fine-dining restaurant, and a bar. We were guided by the tour guide, Mr. S.K., and he explained the history and the facilities available in the mansion.

The students learned in the theory class about the hospitality industry, which encompasses various sectors such as tourism, hotels, and food and beverage services. Hence, the academic trip has unveiled the intricate connections among various sectors and successfully equipped students with both theoretical understanding and practical abilities. Thereby fulfilling the requirements of the course HTM130. Ultimately, the academic trip established itself as a remarkable journey, and the students documented their experiences in their own Vlog.
