ABSTRACT

The purpose of this article describes about the relationship of individualism and collectivism towards collaborative learning among University Malaya students. This paper was correlational that shown how far the level of individualism and collectivism were applied in order to know the effectiveness towards collaborative learning. Individualism and collectivism were the practices that important to students developed their collaborative learning. Nevertheless, this paper was emphasizing only three variables which are individualism, collectivism and collaborative learning. Then, the individualism and collectivism was discussed about the different patterns of endorsement that related to individualism and collectivism on the individual level that was distributed within national contexts. This paper also focuses at students from IPTA which are University Malaya students. The data was gathered by using the questionnaire method that had answered by 100 of degree students from the University Malaya. The study finds that the level of individualism and collectivism towards collaborative learning among University Malaya students was higher. Then, the hypothesis was accepted where there have a significant relationship between individualism and collectivism towards collaborative learning among University Malaya students. Hence, based on finding, collaborative learning was totally influenced student in learning environment.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Alhamdulillah, all praises to Allah the almighty, the most merciful and most benevolent for giving us the strength and patience in preparing and completing this research paper.

Our special gratitude goes to Madam Suwaibahbinti Abu Bakar who performs as advisor for this research paper and our courses lecturer Tn. Hj. Abdul Razak bin Said. They have given a strong faith for us to conduct this research by delivering valuable knowledge and guidance to ensure this research complete in a good manner.

We would like to express for our gratitude to our family, and also to all my friends who shared their precious experiences and knowledge. Without their support and patience, our research would have been a hard journey.

I would also like to acknowledge the University Malaya staff, particularly student who gave of their time and cooperation, and whose participation made this study possible. Your support was far beyond what I expected.

Last but not least, I would like to thank to all during our course study and everyone that involve directly or indirectly. Without them, this research cannot be complete until the end. Hopefully, this project will give benefits to the reader and the invaluable information. Thank you.
