As we listen into the dark night, unseeing
 ... [for everything is blackened]
 The elderly are gasping,
 The children are screaming
 To our best, so hard we are trying
 Building courage out of rubbles
 Singing prayers out of tears
 Does the world not hear us?

In white bandages
 Tiny babies, little toddlers
 Growing teenagers
 Men and women
 All are struggling
 With sweat splashing; blood splattering
 Does the world not see us?

Our land has been aimed
 Thinking this is just a game
 They're still trying to claim
 This land as in their name
 Do they really have no shame?

The bombs keep launching,
 Politicians keep faking,
 Media keep lying,
 Civilians keep dying
 And this land is aching
 ...to end this slaughtering!

We pray not five – but six times,
 Those funeral prayers are prayers of hope
 We are being killed,
 Why are YOU staying still?
 We are asking YOU for help
 Because the immigrants want us D.E.A.D.

Perhaps they forget about the One,
 Who is above everyone
 And as the sun rises again
 We will continue to fight with our hearts
 From our hair to our bones
 They shall perish till they're gone
 From the river to the sea,
 This torn land will be free!
