

Alumni Rise and Evolved

A dedicated group of University Teknologi Mara (UiTM) Sarawak alumni established the non-profit Persatuan Alumni UiTM Sarawak (MITSA) in 1984. The primary objective of MITSA is to represent UiTM Sarawak alumni's interests and offer them helpful support and networking opportunities.

The largest alumni association in Sarawak, MITSA proudly boasts a membership base of over 5,000 individuals. It operates through a number of active chapters spread out around the area, organizing an array of engaging events and activities just for its members.

The initiatives of MITSA make extensive use of networking events. The association regularly organizes career fairs, alumni forums, and social gatherings to provide alumni with a forum for networking, exploring new opportunities, and developing meaningful relationships. These events help participants broaden their perspectives and build relationships with potential employers.

MITSA also emphasizes the value of professional development. It offers different themes for workshops, seminars, and training courses, enabling alumni to keep current with market trends and advance their abilities. By providing these chances for growth, MITSA offers its members the resources they need to be successful in their specialized fields.

Furthermore, MITSA actively participates in charitable activities. The organization organizes fundraising events, awards scholarships to eligible students, and actively engages in community service. Through these initiatives, MITSA is able to make a significant improvement to Sarawak and foster the giving spirit.

Alumni Rise and Evolved (Prominent Alumni)

Concerned alumni who recognized the need for increased support for UiTM Sarawak graduates were the driving force behind the creation of MITSA in 1984. Tan Sri Abdul Wahab Aziz, who had the distinction of becoming the first chancellor of UiTM Sarawak, served as its inaugural president, which is noteworthy. MITSA has grown significantly over time, cementing its status as a significant alumni group with a sizable membership base.
