ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We would like to express our deepest appreciation to our supervisor, Puan Nurulhuda Ahmad who has shown the attitude and the substance of a genius: she continually and persuasively conveyed a spirit of adventure in regard to our research, and an excitement in regard to guiding us. Without her supervision and constant help this dissertation would not have been possible.

We would like to thank our interviewees, Mr. Ismail Bin Badiuzzaman who is also our lecturer in Faculty of Law and Deputy Director of Immigration Department who are generous enough to spend some of their free time to share with us their words of wisdom and their opinion regarding the subject of our project paper and for consent to include their interviews in our project paper. They also encouraged us and gave us ideas in completing our research paper.

In addition, a thank you to our group members who keep striving in their work and for their devotion while supporting each other to perform their utmost best to finish the research paper and meet the deadline. We thank Mara University of Technology for giving us the opportunity to carry out this task. It widens our knowledge and change our perspective of the surroundings while encouraging us to think out of the box. While working on the project paper, we know the true value of friendship and the importance of teamwork. We also thank our families for their endless support. We also want to thank God for blessing us throughout the journey of completing our research paper project.

ABSTRACT

This project involves discovering the weaknesses and loopholes in the Malaysian citizenship. The goal is to show that citizenship matters in Malaysia have weaknesses and loopholes regarding the procedure and substantive matters. This has been done by examining the existing laws and rules regarding citizenship in Malaysia and comparing it with the way the law operates in the United States of America and other countries. We also use interviews in written form to validate our research. We use books, journals, legal articles and related acts as our primary sources to strengthen our dissertation. By identifying the problems that arises from the weaknesses and loopholes in the procedural and substantial complications, we will help to improve the citizenship law in Malaysia. This will allow the law to be more efficient both in theoretical and practical ways.
