Summary

According to Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy by Social Networking and Ethics, most people live by their own morals and ethics and we all have our own belief as to what is right and wrong in life. Social networking is where some may feel that they are hiding behind a computer or phone screen and typing the words instead of speaking to the person personally, it really doesn't count as unethical behavior. Applications are growing day by day, almost every years there always have the new applications that we can apply on our daily basic. As technology becomes modern, people start to realize the different things we can do when incorporating social media into education, the connection and expansion of materials that we gain from it. We are taught as we grow up through face to face interactions, experiences and lessons where what we should and should not do. In this report, those will be shown about the social media ethics problems that most students of Uitm Pasir Gudang are less practices it on their online routine.

The purpose of our investigation is to identify social media ethics problems that faced by UiTM Pasir Gudang students. It is do exist because most of the student in UiTM Pasir Gudang are not aware and doesn't try to practice it on their daily life as a students and their social life. We want to compute the figure among student that practice this social media ethics during their studies.

If the student frequently practices the social media ethics during their studies or social life, that's would makes their life become more organized. Hence, their self-confidence can be obtained by practicing the ethics. As a students, we can develop more soft skills to ourselves which is negotiations, empathy, coaching and monitoring. By those things, we will always be prepare for any situation and our presentation or even talk in front of people also would go smoothly.
