Conclusion

Industrial training is one of the major components in producing graduates who are educated, experienced and skilled. Thus, the UiTM, firms and students themselves must work together to ensure the success of this industrial training program. In addition, the industrial training program is not just to expose students to the real working world but want to ensure the success of every student's training gained experience, insights and skills necessary for future supplies. This is because, most government departments or private firms want employees with high qualifications and experience in the field who are involved in the world of work. It is because the workers have a lot more experience have a better quality of work than new graduates with no experience and skills. Therefore, all parties that involved must improve the industrial training program in order Uitm Johor Kampus Pasir Gudang can produce graduates who excel in education and can even produce skilled and experienced workforce.
