Memories

This artwork is an appreciation for the memories of almost 10 years I have been in Sungai Petani, Kedah. It has been bad and good memories here where it is a beautiful and peaceful place. Several places at Sungai Petani has a great historical story that make me fall in love with it. Most of great achievement I achieved here that create me to be a better person. Most of the memories give a step up and wake up call for me as it has become a strength for me in a way to appreciate people around me. Sungai Petani is one of the city in Kedah Darul Aman and Kuala Muda district. This digital illustration is the Sungai Petani Clock Tower which it is a main attraction for me. It is a main landmark for Sungai Petani since more than 42 years. Located in the heart of the town or also known as Jam Besar for the locals. It is a 12m high clock tower and was built in 1936 as a gift to commemorate the reign of His Majesty King George V by entrepreneur and philanthropist, Lim Lean Teng. We can have a quick look and take a photo when there isn't too much traffic around it. The structure of clock tower is the main attraction and the color of it seem lasting from the previous year. It looks historic and old as a contrast to all the modern buildings, which have sprung up in Sungai Petani. It's very worth looking for if visiting Sungai Petani. Similar to my memories where it has been an attraction for me because I like historic buildings and this is my first time to digitally illustrate a building versus with my last artwork for building theme where

I draw it manually. It became one of my great memories in developing a new skill in digital illustration. Remain with selection of pantone yellow as my trademark of my artwork because it can attract people to see it more. Add some patterns to show the feeling of me right now which is full of positivity and happiness. The red color represents bravery and blue is the color that is intermediate between green and violet, as of the sky or sea on a sunny day. It can give a good vibe in life. It is a challenge for me to go out of my comfort zone where as creating totally a different style in digital illustration. This was my first attempt to harmonize the pantone yellow with red and blue color and adding up some texture to make it blend together. As for the artwork, hopefully when people view these artworks, it can give a positive vibe and can give good memories. Also a peaceful mind rather than a difficulty that they might be facing in life. Sharing the building that has been the heart of Sungai Petani might be a good suggestion for a place that you can visit in this city after the pandemic ends which can give you memories that you will not forget.
