Where this study identifies whether these factors have a positive impact on the division of Faraid property. This study covers faraid and his application in Kuantan Pahang, in theory and practical. Faraid is the law of inheritance and is the subject of the most detailed legal provisions in the Quran. Because of his importance Rasulullah urged his companions to acquire certain knowledge and warn them that Faraid knowledge or inheritance knowledge. Because faraid means obligations, many consider it a mandatory law, for which Muslims have no choice but to comply. The study, however, concludes that it is not an obligation for Muslims to dispose of their inheritance according to the prescribed property in the Qur'an. Researchers have used the Statistical Package for Social Science version 20 (SPSS) to analyze raw data for frequency, percentage, mean and correlation. The findings as a whole show that the factor of consciousness among Muslims on the distribution of estate according to faraid is at a high level.
