

INSPIRED BY MALAYSIAN BATIK

Malaysian batik is batik textile art in Malaysia, especially on the east coast of Malaysia. The most popular motifs are leaves and flowers. Malaysian batik depicting humans or animals are rare because Islam norms forbid animal images as decoration.

bracelets are wider and usually have a gap or clasp that fits over the wrist. Cuffs can be metal and you may also find them in leather. Given the thickness and inflexibility of most bangle and bracelets, they aren't usually adapted for wearing as anklets.
