ABSTRACT

As a practicing Muslim, we are aware that there are certain parts in Islamic transactions in which we as Muslims are barred from participating, one of which is riba, also known as usury. All economic operations are legal as long as they are conducted in accordance with Shariah law. When we talk about riba, all Muslims will tell you that it is forbidden in Islam. However, not everyone understands what riba is. Usury in principle and practise in banks is little understood by the general public. As a result of misunderstandings concerning usury and Islamic finance, various problems have developed as a result of this ignorance. As a result, more individuals choose traditional banking's usury-based services over Islamic banking's. The primary purpose of this research is to establish the level of riba comprehension and awareness among primary and secondary school teachers in Sungai Buloh, as well as community awareness. In addition, the study will examine their attitudes of usury and Islamic banking, as well as their transaction alternatives when interacting with banks, including whether they pick an Islamic bank or a conventional bank. The data for this study is gathered through the distribution of a Google Form questionnaire and interviews with chosen teachers.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the name of Allah the Most Beneficent The Most Merfiful. Praises and thanks to the Allah SWT, for His showers of blessings throughout my research work to complete the research successfully. The challenges I faced during this long process taught me many things.

First of all, I would like to thank to my supervisor Dr. Azarudin Awang, has been a great help and has provided me with a lot of fascinating research. This research would not have been possible without his amazing assistance and insights. This thesis would not have been possible without the help of my supervisor, who guided me through the whole research process, allowing me to gain a thorough understanding of the subject. I am grateful for the remarkable chances He has provided for me to progress professionally and for the extraordinary experiences He has planned for me. Next, I owe my parents a debt of gratitude for their love, prayers, care, and sacrifices in teaching and preparing me for the future.

Furthermore, not to be forgotten not to forget also the line of lecturers of the Academy of Contemporary Islamic Studies who helped a lot in the workshops held with give their experience about the academic writing process. All of this useful information and meaningful experience will be remembered for a long time. Lastly, Thanks for the teachers that involved in this research and fellow teachers. May your goodness be facilitated in the affairs of this world and the hereafter.
