ABSTRACT

The purpose of the study was to examine the students' internship experience during pandemic and its impacts on their readiness for future career between the final year students in UiTM Seremban 3. Based on the study, the importance of internship is to gather real-life based experience of working culture in the office, how to handle and solve real-life problems and most importantly how to survive in the corporate life. Therefore, the researchers conduct the study by using convenience sampling method in collecting the online survey data. The result of the study revealed three main findings. First, majority of respondents are positively possessed with the students' internship experience during pandemic. Second, all students are most likely to get prepared in determining their future career path. Lastly, the findings show that there are positive relationship between students' internship experience during pandemic and its impacts on their readiness for future career. Thus, the finding of the study proves that internship program is considered as a steppingstone for students to determine their career path.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Praise be to Allah SWT for bestowing upon us patience, wonderful health, and the fortitude to work on this report.

Firstly, we would like to express our gratitude to Faculty of Administrative Science and Policy Studies for providing us with the opportunity to participate in this Final Year Project (ADS555) as part of the course requirements.

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our supervisor, Madam Zurina Binti Md Nen, for her important counsel, inspiration, kind help, tenacity, and strong support throughout this research, as well as for her trust in our ability to accomplish this study.

Also, let us not forget the dedication and hard work of Dr Nurul Hidayana Mohd Noor for providing us many of information and guidelines in completing our research studies as per datelines. Moreover, we are very thankful for each respondent in giving cooperation to spend a little time in answering our questionnaire on Google Form. Last but not least, our beloved families in becoming our motivating factor and support system to complete the research studies.

And, most importantly, we wish them all happiness and success in their lives. May Allah SWT bless us with our loves ones in this universe and in the afterlife.
