Alhamdulillah, first and foremost, we would like to praise and send our gratitude to Almighty God, Allah S.W.T in showering us with His blessings throughout completing this research report. We felt that He help to ease our research journey even though we faced many difficulties and constraints since the beginning of this report.

Secondly, we would like to express our sincere gratitude and thankfulness to our supportive supervisor, Madam Noorie Haryaniee Binti Moulton who has given us this golden opportunity in conducting research regarding our chosen topic. Her kindness and sincerity have inspired us to do better each day. She also has provided us with many information, knowledge, and guidance throughout completing this research. We felt very comfortable to ask her any questions without feeling scared because she understands our struggles that we need to face during this online learning. We also would like to thank her patience in teaching us everything until we successfully completed this research under her supervision. It was a very great honor to be chosen and study with her.

We both are extremely grateful for our parents' prayers, supports and patience. Their encouragement is very much appreciated because they understand our struggles to achieve our academic goals. We hope we will make them proud of us after we manage to complete this research next semester. Not only that, but we are also very thankful to have kind and supportive classmates who are always ready to help whenever we need it. Lastly, we would like to thank everyone who involves directly and indirectly in this research. Their cooperation is the one who motivated us in completing this research successfully.

ABSTRACT

Online distance learning (ODL) is very important nowadays because it is a new learning style that was applied by institutions during this COVID-19 pandemic. In particular, this online learning has impacted their target audience especially students in universities neither positively nor negatively affected. Although it took some time for them to adapt in this new situation, government suggested that institutions need to shift their learning method in from physical to virtual classes. This online learning definitely a culture shock to those students especially them who are still stuck in the traditional learning method such as rural schools. Here we report on the impact of COVID in terms of psychological, technological, and social impact. In this article will also open up public eyes about the development of online learning towards the students' learning processes.
