The form of a hand fan is made from discarded bamboo, rattan stripe, and palm leaves. The sculpture represents the historical elegance and femininity of hand fans. The artist created the illusion of movement in the artwork using basic weaves. The use of Indonesian-origin materials establishes a connection between Indonesia and Malaysia. The sculpture is an artistic creation of form and texture that depicts the softness and fluidity of a hand fan due to its rattan base. The artist applied a hand stapler and hot glue gun to guarantee the stability of every part during installation. The sculpture is an engaging combination of conventional meanings and innovative craft.
