

Abstract

This purpose of this study was to investigate the relationship between the leadership styles practiced by leader with the employee's job satisfaction at Institut Semarak Felda (ISF). A part from that the second objective of this study was to examine the impact of leadership styles towards employee's job satisfaction. This study utilized the simple random sampling technique. The data were collected using questionnaire distributed to the respondents where they had to rate the level of job satisfaction in relation to the leadership style used by their leaders. The level of satisfaction was measured using five point Likert scales. The correlation was measured using Pearson correlation. Based on the finding, there were positive correlations between transformational and transactional leadership styles with employees' job satisfaction. Leaders in Institut Semarak Felda (ISF) used both transformational and transactional leadership style. The level of job satisfaction in relation to leadership styles at Institut Semarak Felda (ISF) was strong. Besides that, the findings also show that female was more satisfied than male in relation to leadership styles. It was also found that based on experience of working with the current leader shows that employees who work between 1-5 years felt more satisfied than others. Overall, the level of job satisfactions of employees at Institut Semarak Felda (ISF) was found to be at high level. Therefore, it is suggested that organization needs to increase level of job satisfaction of the employees by providing appropriate training to leaders and employees for their development. Giving competitive remuneration with increase benefits to them will also help. Rewards should be given to those whose achievements have contributed to the organisation.

Acknowledgement

Alhamdulillah and thanks to Allah for the strength that has given me in completing this research on time. I would like to express my appreciation to Mr. Azmi bin Salim as my supervisor and also Dr. Hajah Mas Anom binti Abdul Rashid, lecturer of Research Method (OSM 661). Special thanks to both of them for guidance, ideas, comments and support in complete this research study.

Thanks also to all staff at Institut Semarak Felda (ISF) who had given their full cooperation during the data collection process. Their full cooperation really assisted me in completing my research. Special thanks to my supervisor, Encik Zafuan bin Aris for the permission given to conduct my research study at Institut Semarak Felda (ISF).

Next, my appreciation goes to all my friends BM 232 6A and my team members who have always supported and shared their ideas in completing this task. Lastly, I would like to express my gratitude to my family for giving me the support needed to successfully complete this study. Not forgetting those who have directly and indirectly involved in my research.
