HOW TO SCORE POINTS WHILE SURFING THE WEB!

Just sign up for a Microsoft account –
easy peasy!

Rafizah binti Kechil,
Elly Johana binti Johan

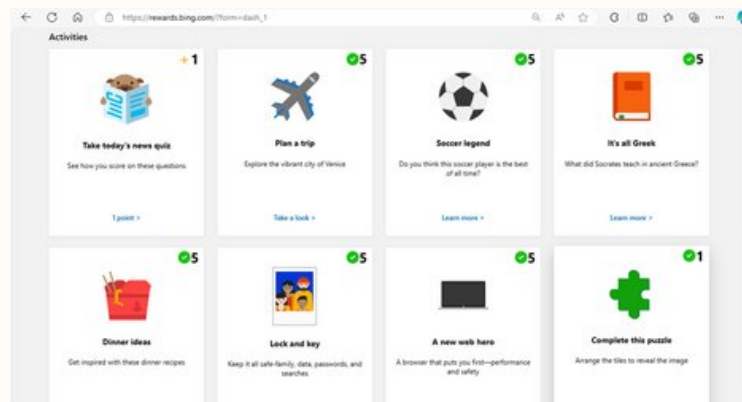

Alright, we're all on the daily internet quest, searching away, right? But hold up – our regular browsers like Google Chrome or Firefox aren't throwing any rewards our way. Bummer! But fret not, because Microsoft Bing is here to shake things up. They're actually hooking us up with points based on our search escapades! And the kicker? You can trade those points for some fantastic goodies, like Lotus's vouchers. So, let's spill the beans on how we can all pile up those points and turn our daily search routine into a rad and rewarding game. Excited? Join the Microsoft Rewards fun and let's start racking up those points together!

Just sign up for a Microsoft account – easy peasy! No commitments or fees involved; it's all part of your Microsoft account. Once you're logged in, hop over to the Rewards page.

Bag those points by staying logged in with your Microsoft account on Bing. Also, spice things up by setting Bing as your go-to search engine in your favourite browser. Every search becomes a points party!

Get your daily dose of Bing excitement by searching and reading articles on MSN, Edge and beyond. Don't forget to swing by rewards.bing.com or bing.com regularly to uncover more chances to score those sweet points!

Hop over to the redemption page to discover fresh offers, check your current points status and explore the awesome array of rewards waiting for you. Whether it's gift cards, cool gear or donations to your favourite nonprofit, your points open up a world of possibilities!
