ABSTRACT

A well-designed typeface will have qualities that are consistent throughout the masthead design. We have been revealed with many film posters in this world. Despite a century of horror film production and entertainment, little study has looked at why people watch horror films and how it affects their behaviour, memory, and emotions. The paper considers a typeface usage on masthead design for Malay horror movie posters as one of the main keys for a good quality of horror movie posters. There are various of Malaysian horror movie posters that failed to visualize the elements to draw the emotions of the audience. Most of the failed element usage are typography usage. One of the reasons the issues arose was that our designers lacked understanding of the significance of using typography itself. Therefore, the main key for this research is to study the effectiveness and significances of typeface usage on masthead design for Malaysian movie posters. This paper will discuss on the elements of the masthead design which is Typography usage on Malaysian horror movie posters.

1. INTRODUCTION

The main cover's main topic is the masthead. Various features that are intended to draw attention and give the page a pleasing appearance can be found in the masthead. The majority of masthead designers want to create a final product that will be simpler for readers to recall and associate with the publication. The masthead may contain important components such as an instantly identifiable textual title in eye-catching fonts and colours, or visual artwork that elucidates the objective to the audience.

By now, when it comes to seeing a movie, one of the first things we will look at and read is the masthead on the movie posters. This will stick in our minds as we make the decision of whether or not to watch the movie. As a result, the font on the posters serves as both a first impression and a movie attraction. Most people "live in a perfect world" when a movie comes out and ignore the poster as something that has always been there. Unfortunately, they were unaware of the fact that the movie's poster was one of the things that pulled you in and made you want to watch it. In other words, a poster is a marketing tool that offers interesting information for potential viewers to understand and base their judgments on.

Horror movies are a genre of movies that aim to frighten their viewers and express unpleasant feelings and phobias towards the audience (Viktor, 2016). When a living thing encounters circumstances that could pose a threat, fear is an emotion that is triggered. This emotion releases chemicals into the brain that alter our normal, secure, and relaxed behaviour. Fear can be a personal experience that is brought on by a particular phobia (which means fear of something). Our survival instincts can also make us fearful. Malaysia's horror movie is one of the film's genre which gives a big impact to human's emotion, behaviour and memory. The process of implementing philosophical themes into movies will guide Malaysian filmmakers in exploring the power of a horror movie and giving it a brand new perspective (Amirul Akhbar, Amelia Yuliana, & Hani, 2019). The thrill that horror movies provide is likely the main reason why people watch them. Your body releases adrenaline when you are scared. This could be a real rush. It's also entertaining.

Movie posters are produced by movie studios as advertising materials for feature films. The theatres that are currently showing the movie have large posters on the outside venues in addition to smaller posters outside each showing room to draw crowds. In order to draw the audience attention, an element usage such as movie poster typefaces play an important roles in order to get the audience's attention. For instance, Malaysian horror movie posters use a lot of serif typeface and linked with the actual horror movie elements such as hand gesture, large face, line up, silhouette, scared women etc.

2. PROBLEM STATEMENT

Horror authors may use creepy suspense and even spookier characters, and directors can apply horrific makeup and unsettling sound effects, but graphic designers have an even more terrifying tool at their fingertips which is typography. Any design project's use of typography to support its themes is very important (Ko et al., 2023). Horror themes are also significantly more intense than those of other genres, which may make the typeface they generate particularly striking.

There are various of Malaysian horror movie posters that failed to visualize the elements to draw the emotions of the audience. Most of the failed element usage are typography usage. One of the reasons the issues arose was that our designers lacked understanding of the significance of using typography itself. Sadly, many of the local designers consider themselves to be good designers. Typography is noticeable because it enhances in the conserving of the designer's most valuable resource. The reader's attention is drawn to the designer. (Yadav, Chakrabarti, & Bisoyi, 2014).

Masthead design play important role regarding an information for printed media such as magazine and newspaper. Mastheads can include a variety of elements designed to draw attention and give an pleasant appearance to the page, which Typography is one of them. Therefore, the main objective of this research is to study the effectiveness and significances of typeface usage on masthead design for Malaysian movie posters. This paper will discuss on the elements of the masthead design which is Typography usage on Malaysian horror movie posters.

4. DATA FINDINGS AND ANALYSIS

The study's data collecting and analysis methods were based on the method described in research methodology. This chapter will help to understand the significances masthead of a Malaysian horror movie poster as well as the table's formatting and data collecting. As a result, the elements and principles design rules that are applied in the masthead design are the best to follow. One of the factors that affect the audience based on the observations is the placement, effect and the sizing of the typography. It can help to improve the visibility elements that can attract the audience to recognize the movie content. The use of suitable typeface on the Malaysian horror movie poster can make the audience feel the initial effect before watching the movie. Furthermore, a colours have a significant role in the design of a poster. A colour will aid in highlighting, visualising, and communicating the masthead design to the audience. To create a poster design, colour utilisation must be emphasised and contrasted with backdrop imagery. The second point to mention is the typeface layout and sizing. This is a basic element in a film poster that conveys the title of the picture to the spectator. The typeface layout and sizing is always appropriate and properly positioned in order for the viewers to understand the details on the film poster.
